The Rebel Army Not in Retreat.

SECRETARY STANTON TO GEN. DIX.

War Department,
Washington, Monday, June 20—10 P. M.

To Major-Gen. Dix:

No operations to-day on the James River have been reported to the Department. Unofficial statements represent our loss to have been severe in the assaults on the enemy's works on Saturday, but no official list of the casualties have been received.

Gen. Sherman, in a dispatch dated this evening (7:30 P. M.) says: "I was premature in announcing that the enemy had abandoned his position. I based my report upon those of the army commanders. The enemy has thrown back his flank and abandoned all his works in front of Kenesaw Mountain, but holds that mountain as the apex of his position, with his flanks behind Noonday and Moses Creeks. We have pressed him pretty close to-day, although the continued rain makes all movements almost an impossibility."

Gen. Foster, commanding the Department of the South at Hilton Head, forwards the following dispatch, dated June 15, at Hilton Head, S. C.: "I have the honor to report that I have to-day received from Major Gen. Samuel Jones, commanding the rebel forces in this department, a letter stating that five General officers of the United States, as prisoners of war, had been placed in Charleston, to be retained there under our fire. Against this weak and cruel act I have protested. In the meantime, the fire on the city is continued. I respectfully ask that an equal number of rebel officers of equal rank may be sent to me, in order that I may place them under the rebel fire as long as our officers are exposed in Charleston."

This department has issued a retaliatory order, transferring to Gen. Foster an equal number of rebel General officers, to be treated in the manner proposed as long as our officers are exposed in Charleston.

Illness of Gen. Hancock—Gen. Birney in Temporary Command of the Second Corps—A Night Attack on Burnside—The Rebels Retake a Fort.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

Headquarters Second Corps, near Petersburgh,
Va., Saturday, June 18.

Owing to the indisposition experienced by Gen. Hancock, occasioned by his wound received at Gettysburgh, having again opened, which is the result of constant riding in the saddle of late, which for a day or two past has confined him to his tent, Gen. Birney was called upon to temporarily relieve him from command, last night and to-day, Gen. Birney has assumed the duties of Corps Commander, Gen. Mott taking command of Birney's division. With the exception of a change of their defensive lines by the enemy this morning, nothing of importance has transpired to-day. It was designed to change the rebel position early this morning by a simultaneous attack by the several corps, with Baldy Smith on the right, Birney, with the Second Corps, on Smith's left, Warren, with a portion of the Fifth Corps, next in line, and Burnside, on the left. At daylight, however, it was discovered that the enemy had, during the night, quietly withdrawn his lines to a point within a mile of the city, where a new line of defences had been prepared. This was, doubtless, made necessary by the frequent and threatening demonstrations made by Birney, Barlow and Burnside during Thursday and Friday, which resulted in the loss to the enemy of what Hancock regards as the key to the position they then occupied.

At 11 o'clock last night a furious attack was made on Burnside's front, at the point where, yesterday morning, he attacked the rebel position with such effect, capturing a line of works, with several pieces of artillery, and about 500 prisoners. After a severe contest, in which our men behaved admirably, the fort was reoccupied by the enemy.

The change in the line has had the effect to concentrate the forces under Beauregard while it enables our troops to cover important approaches to the left and right, and places the city within a range of our guns of about 1,400 yards.

At about 5 o'clock this afternoon an advance upon the rebel lines was ordered, with a view to more thoroughly developing his situation. This was accomplished with considerable loss, however, in wounded. Birney's division suffered the most.

From prisoners we learn that Beauregard, with his main army, commands the defences of the city, though it is now evident that Longstreet, Wilcox and Ewell have sent portions of their commands to operate under Beauregard, if, indeed, their entire corps are not present. No decisive evidence has as yet appeared to prove the presence in our front of more than a small portion of Lee's army. There is an apparent effort on the part of the rebel leaders to mislead us as to the present disposition of their forces, as the prisoners captured invariably admit that they have been instructed by their officers to name only Beauregard as their Commander at this place.

There has been less firing this evening than at any time since our operations commenced at this point. To-morrow may witness the evacuation of Petersburgh by the enemy, which occurrence will not surprise our general officers at headquarters.

The Fighting of Friday—Our Losses in the Late Battles—The Rebel Works—What the Prisoners Say.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

Washington, Monday, June 20.

A dispatch from the Headquarters of the Army of the Potomac, dated June 18, 8 P. M., says:

The fighting yesterday was very severe along the greater part of the line, the most determined efforts being made to break the enemy's line at several points. But little ground, however, was gained, except on the left, where the rebels were forced to fall back to an inner line, on account of the advanced position gained by Ledlie's division, of Burnside's corps, on Friday afternoon.

The line of the rebels is nearly in the form of a semi-circle, the ends resting on the Appomattox River, Petersburgh being about the centre.

At some points on the line our guns are within a mile and a half of the city, which can be destroyed at any time with ease.

The heaviest fighting occurred on the right centre, where each division of the Second Corps at different hours charged the rebel works in front, but without success.

These works are of the strongest character, and the rebel troops were massed behind them, and our men had to cross open fields of two to four hundred yards in extent to get at them, exposed to a cross fire from the batteries so as to sweep the entire space.

The last attack was made at 5 o'clock in the afternoon by the Third Division, under Gen. Mott, and the loss was probably heavier than in any of the other attacks.

Gen. Pierce was wounded while gallantly leading his brigade in a charge.

Gen. Martindale, on the right, attacked the enemy and succeeded in advancing his lines and taking a few prisoners. His loss is reported at about five hundred.

The Fifth Corps did not lose heavily in their advance in the morning, but their loss was considerable in the afternoon in their attack on the left.

Our losses during the past two days will reach eight thousand in killed and wounded.

The loss of the enemy at some points was greater than ours; but being generally behind their intrenchments, were not so much exposed, and, of course, suffered less on the whole.

All the prisoners taken so far, some 1,200, of whom about 200 came in yesterday, represent themselves as being in Gen. Beauregard's army. It is not believed that such a resistance could be made without Lee's presence, and the aid of his troops.

There is no reliable news from Gen. Butler up to the present time.

Gen. Ingalls has been designated Chief Quartermaster of the combined armies in this vicinity, to be stationed at City Point, with Gen. Grant.

Lieut.-Col. Batchelder, Chief Quartermaster of the Second Army Corps, has been temporarily assigned as Chief Quartermaster at Gen. Meade's headquarters.

Capt. L. H. Pierce, late Assistant to the Chief Quartermaster of the Army of the Potomac, has been promoted to be Chief Quartermaster of the Ninth Army, with the rank of Colonel.

Capt. Ransom, assistant to Capt. Clinton, at the Headquarters of the Army of the Potomac, has been assigned to duty in the Commissary Department at the Headquarters of the Ninth Army Corps.

These promotions are well deserved, and reflect credit on the judgment of the Commander-in-Chief.

Our Captures of Artillery—How Lee Crossed the James—Steamers in the James Fired Upon.

Bermuda Hundreds, Saturday, June 18,
Via Baltimore, Monday, June 20.

In all 21 pieces of artillery have been captured from the enemy in our assaults upon the works at Petersburgh, beside a large number of prisoners.

When the enemy withdrew his forces in front of Gen. Butler, to reinforce Petersburgh, Gen. Butler immediately sent out a force, under Gens. Terry and Turner, which succeeded in destroying an important bridge and four miles of railroad track, near Walthall Junction.

Early's (late Longstreet's) corps crossed the James River, near Drury's Bluff, in strong force, and was seen coming down the Petersburgh turnpike as Gen. Butler's forces entered their works.

Last evening, the dispatch steamer Amanda Winants, while passing Wilcox's Wharf, was fired into from the north side of the James River by a rebel battery. Ten shots were fired at her, one of which passed through her hull, near the water line. No one was injured.

The James River is blockaded a few miles below Drury's Bluff, to prevent a surprise from the rebel rams.

Advices to Sunday Morning—Advancement of Our Line—All Quiet Sunday.

From Our Special Correspondent.

Headquarters Army of the Potomac,
in front of Petersburgh,
Sunday, June 19, 1864—6 A. M.

No positive advantage has been obtained over the enemy during the last 24 hours. There has been more or less fighting along the whole line, charges and counter charges made. Our right and left have been swung in something more than one mile, while the centre has been advanced but little. The line this morning, instead of moving in the general direction from north to south, now has the general direction of northwest and southeast; briefly, Petersburgh is half surrounded by an abattis of Yankee bayonets, within easy range of the city.

All was quiet last night; no demonstration on either side. There has been no fighting this morning.

The Advance by Butler Upon the Railroad—Audacious Operations of a Handful of Men—Lee's Army Cut in Two and Held in Check for Several Hours, and Three Miles of the Railroad Destroyed in the Meantime.

From Our Special Correspondent.

In the Field, Bermuda Hundred, Va.,
Friday, June 17—P. M.

I wrote yesterday in general terms of the splendid exploit of a small part of Gen. Butler's army, in pushing out upon the Petersburgh and Richmond Railroad and destroying the railroad track, interrupting Lee's process of pouring troops into Petersburgh to head off the advance of our forces upon that city. Now that I am fully informed of what Gen. Butler really accomplished, you will agree with me in saying that the affair, for brilliancy, dash and sheer audacity, ought to be classed with the remarkable enterprises of the war. It amounted simply to this: A force of four thousand men advanced three or four miles directly in the teeth of Lee's veteran army, whom it succeeded in cutting in two by destroying for a distance of three miles or more the railroad over which the troops were passing as fast as trains could be run.

At daybreak on Thursday morning it was observed that the enemy in front of the position at Bermuda Hundred had vacated, excepting a thin picket line, which held the works. This being represented to Gen. Butler, an advance of our entire picket line was ordered for the purpose of feeling the enemy's strength. At the same time Gen. Terry, commanding the Tenth Corps, was directed to send out Gens. Foster, Ames and Turner, with all the available force at his disposal, to follow the retreating rebels. The enemy's picket line still holding their works, offered a little resistance to our advance, but they were soon whipped into submission and 200 prisoners fell into our hands.

From conversations with the prisoners, Gen. Butler arrived at the conclusion that the evacuation of the works was a blunder, and further developments proved the accuracy of his judgment. It seems that the rebel troops belonging to Beauregard's command, who have garrisoned the position in Butler's front, were ordered by Lee to the defence of Petersburgh, to be relieved here by the battle-worn men of Longstreet's corps. The officer in command was in too great a hurry to move after he got the order, or else misconstrued its purport, going away with his main force before Longstreet's men got up.

Under these circumstances Gen. Terry put his columns in motion, aiming to reach the railroad. Foster's command went out by the Chester road, and Ames took the old turnpike, and Turner pushed along the lower road to Port Walthal Junction.

With characteristic prudence, Gen. Terry posted a sufficient force on his right flank to prevent that being turned at any hazard, and with the ridiculously small force that was left afterward, moved out in search of adventures.

Foster's column on the right was the first to meet the enemy, whose skirmishers were found some distance this side of the Petersburgh and Richmond turnpike, which used to figure so prominently in our operations here about a month ago. These skirmishers were driven back, and Foster's men crossed the turnpike and got upon the railroad without much difficulty. Prisoners and deserters—a few of whom got within our lines—stated that they belonged to Pickett's division of Longstreet's corps, which was represented as being the leading division of the leading corps of Lee's army.

Reaching the railroad, a large part of our men were detailed to the work of destruction of the track, which they accomplished very thoroughly for a distance of between three and four miles, by tearing up the rails and ties, piling them in heaps and burning them, and leveling the embankments upon the roadway. Meanwhile the fighting part of the expedition was becoming hardly pressed by Pickett, who had formed in line of battle, and was preparing to make an attack, having been reinforced heavily. This was about 4 o'clock P. M., and Gen. Terry feeling that it would be great folly, with his three or four thousand men to engage Lee's entire army, gave the order to withdraw. This was successfully done, and our casualties were comparatively few.

As I have before remarked, the affair was sublimely impudent on our part. A mere handful got between the great armies of Beauregard and Lee, and held them in check for six or seven hours, while they deliberately employed the time in playing mischief with the railroad which, at the precise period, was of vital importance, being the chief means of getting troops into the threatened City of Petersburgh. Oh! will not Messrs. Lee, Beauregard & Co. feel very small when they clearly understand that the force which brought them to a halt, and to oppose which they spent several hours in making extraordinary and complicated dispositions of their troops, was like a drop in a bucket compared to themselves! Thermopylae over again! except that here it was a level country, instead of a mountain gorge, where a brave band kept an army at bay.

While these events were happening on the railroad, Gen. Weitzel, Chief Engineer of Gen. Butler's department, employed his corps upon the abandoned works which the enemy had thrown up with the greatest care. Particular attention was paid to filling up the embrasures and leveling the strongest portions of the line, and a great deal of information was obtained, which will be useful in case we have to pay our respects to "ye rebs," who, to-day, re-occupied the position. The Eighteenth Army Corps was absent during this affair, in front of Petersburgh, holding the position it so gallantly won on Wednesday, until the Army of the Potomac should come up and relieve it. If Gen. Smith had been with Gen. Butler—well, there is no use in making post facto prophesies; but there would have been a larger force to operate with, and Lee would probably have suffered from something more than an hour's detention.

THE BATTLE ON THURSDAY NIGHT.

My impression respecting the heavy firing on Thursday night, as stated in my letter yesterday, proves to be true. There was a great deal of powder burnt, but little harm resulted from it. Hancock in the centre, and Burnside on the left, did most of the fighting, while Smith merely demonstrated on the right. The ground in Hancock's front is cleared, but broken by hills and ravines, high and deep, all in a high state of cultivation. It is difficult to operate advantageously over a region of this character, and the advance was slow. There was scarcely an hour of daylight after the battle began, but in that hour the Second Corps pressed the rebels back a couple of hundred yards across a ravine and up a hill slope, and were in turn pressed back themselves. The Ninth Corps' operations did not materially vary from those of the Second. Of the casualties on our side I can say but little, but it is generally reported that they were few.

Smith's demonstrations on the right were handsomely made. He had to move his forces over a broad plain, whose exuberant bosom was covered with the greenest and most luxuriant of grain crops. From the commanding heights surrounding this fertile valley the view is almost unobstructed for miles—objects no larger than the human figure being plainly perceptible to the unaided eye from the position of our batteries, at least two miles away. It is rare that so excellent an opportunity of witnessing the movement of an army in the face of an enemy is afforded a spectator. At a comparatively safe distance from the danger of even a chance shell, I saw the soldiers of Gen. Martindale's division form and march over these grain fields, whose growth scarcely hid them to their knees, and intrepidly advance toward four rebel batteries on the opposite side of the Appomattox, whose guns, posted on high ground about a mile distant for a few minutes poured in an annoying enfilading fire. A battery of 20-pounder Parrotts, on a ridge a rod or two to my left, pitched in a few shell which silenced the enemy's demonstrations with artillery. I could see from my stand-point the long lines of skirmishers on both sides strung across the fields like black dots at regular intervals, and the puffs of smoke rise lazily from their muskets in the still evening air. But it was late when the attack opened, and night's sable mantle aided the heavy gray curtain of sulphureous smoke in covering the glories and wonders of the novel scene from the view of rapt observers all too soon.

But the firing did not cease until a long time after darkness, and, indeed, it was kept up at intervals during the whole night.

About 4 o'clock this morning Burnside attacked the rifle-pits in front of his position, and carried them, taking some prisoners, and guns, and colors—at least so it has been affirmed and denied alternately during the day. At any rate, there is no question in my mind that he assaulted the pits, for I heard a tremendous rattling of musketry in his direction.

AFFAIRS TO-DAY.

There was very little firing along the lines to-day. What took place was confined in the main to the artillery, which sent a few shells periodically into the midst of the enemy's working parties, who are engaged in the construction of rifle-pits and redoubts less than a mile distant from our lines, and in plain sight of our batteries.

I spent several hours during the day at the Friend House, which is delightfully situated just in advance of the fortifications taken on Wednesday, on a right smart hill (Virginian) commanding a magnificent view of Petersburgh spires, the Appomattox valley, our lines of pickets in the fields below, the woods on the other side of the river, and the rebel earthworks which are gradually rising between the city and our position. At this house Gen. Brooks, commanding the First Division of the Eighteenth Corps, has his headquarters, and Gen. Smith spends considerable time at the same place. While I was here three brass pieces in the door-yard fired at intervals of a minute or two at the enemy's fatigue parties, who could be seen busy with shovels and axes, throwing up fortifications in partially screened positions a mile and a quarter away. When a gun thundered and a shell screeched off in the direction of the rebels, it was curious to watch the effect. Our range upon the works was very accurate; and where the missile struck, up would rise a column of dust and smoke, and down would squat the diggers, to be up again in an instant after the explosion, using spades as vigorously as ever. It was the best opportunity I have had of watching men dodge shells. From actual experience, I know it to be far pleasanter to watch the expertness of others in this way than to practically test one's own capabilities. I could see all this without a glass, so near did everything appear from the elevated ground where I stood. The rebels made no attempt to return a shot for the many we devoted to them. A great deal nearer to me than the working parties were the rebel pickets. They lay stretched across the valley in rifle-pits hastily dug in the grain fields. Our pickets faced them a few hundred yards nearer. Occasionally the men on both sides would stand erect and could easily have been killed, but by mutual consent there were no shots exchanged.

To-day the Eighteenth Corps received orders to return to Bermuda Hundred, and to-night it is in its old camp. It has done excellent service during this two weeks in which it has coöperated with the Army of the Potomac, and great praise is justly awarded it and its gallant commander, everywhere. The Sixth relieved that portion of the line held by the Eighteenth in front of Petersburgh.

OBSTRUCTING COMMUNICATIONS.

The transports on the James River were annoyed to-night by a rebel field battery, which impudently came down on the north bank of the river, just above Wilcox's wharf, and the pontoon bridge over which the Army of the Potomac crossed, and fired upon the steamers Hancox and Winans. Both vessels were struck, but no person was hurt. Just opposite where this demonstration was made were a large number of barges containing the ammunition of the entire army. A few shots put into them would have seriously crippled operations. They were quickly towed up the river out of danger, and Gen. Graham's army gunboats were dispatched by Gen. Butler, to keep the river open.

Saturday Morning, June 18.

There was very heavy firing last night in the direction of Petersburgh, both musketry and artillery. It continued all night, I am told, but I am not able to say whether we attacked, or were ourselves assaulted. Cannonading is occasionally heard as I write. (8 A. M.)

Details of Wednesday's Operations—Fighting of the Colored Troops—Gen. Smith's Opinion of Them—The Captured Works—Butler's Command Not to Be Merged into the Army of the Potomac.

From Our Special Correspondent.

Headquarters Department of Va. and N. C.,
In the Field, Thursday, June 16, 1864.

After an early ride in from the front this morning, to mail the hastily-written letter which I sent off respecting yesterday's splendid operations of the Eighteenth Corps, I called at Gen. Butler's headquarters. Here I found everybody in an unusual state of excitement. News had just come in of the evacuation by the rebels of their intrenchments in front of the position at Bermuda Hundred. Presently the statement was duly verified. In came a squad of thirty prisoners, one of whom was a Second Lieutenant. Other squads followed, and in the course of a few minutes the grass in front of the guard tent was swarmed with two or three hundred fellows in shabby gray, "squat like toads," while a cordon of erect figures, in the neat blue of the private soldier's uniform of the United States, surrounded them with loaded guns and fixed bayonets. These rebs had all been captured in their rifle-pits, where they were spread out in a very thin line, for the purpose of covering the retreat of the main body. As far as I could judge, they all wore cheerful countenances, as rebel prisoners usually do, which fact makes me think that the "Johnnies" shed very few tears when they fall into the keeping of amiable Uncle Sam.

Upon inquiry, I learned that early last evening the rebels massed in front of the weakest part of Gen. Butler's line, as if bent upon an attack. Gen. Terry, who is in command of the Tenth Corps, now that Gen. Gillmore has been relieved, at once made his dispositions to meet the case, but the night passed and the enemy made no demonstrations. Suspecting the truth, Gen. Terry, at daylight, sent out a force to reconnoitre, and the result was a discovery of the works abandoned, excepting a thin picket line, which, as I have already said, was captured.

Gen. Butler, on learning this state of facts, at once ordered a reconnoissance in force. Gen. Terry thereupon dispatched Gen. Turner with his division to look into matters, and I have since learned that Turner reached the Richmond and Petersburgh Railroad with very little opposition. He at once set about destroying the track and wrenched it up for a long distance. I have had no opportunity of getting further information from this quarter.

THE PETERSBURGH DEFENCES.

When I wrote last night I was not fully informed of the formidable character of the fortifications defending Petersburgh which were so gallantly carried by the Eighteenth Corps. True, I visited them fifteen minutes after the rebels had been driven out, but it was then almost dark, and I could get no very clear idea of the position or strength of the works. This afternoon I have ridden through them all, and am simply astounded that our troops should have got possession so easily. Why, these fortifications seem to be almost impregnable. They are thrown up on the farther side of a deep ravine, up which our fellows had to charge. And that was not all our boys had to do. Before they reached the ravine, on some portions of the line, they had to make their way in the face of a spiteful fire of grapeshot and cannister across an open space from one-eighth to a quarter of a mile wide, every inch of which was obstructed by felled trees or entanglements and pitfalls. How they reached the strong positions of the enemy under these circumstances is a mystery I cannot fathom. The only explanation that occurs to me is that the wonderfully rapid fire of our artillery quite demoralized the rebel young gentlemen, who are commanded by doughty Gen. Wise. I don't wonder at all if "ye rebs" were demoralized. We had been so quiet all the afternoon along our lines. The "Johnnies" had it all their own way. Gen. Smith, appreciating these circumstances, quietly made his disposition of forces and opened upon the enemy with a fury which has been seldom equaled. Sixteen pieces of artillery blurted out in unison their deafening compliments, and so suddenly that everybody on our side was startled, except the very few who were acquainted with the programme.

The whole fight did not last more than twenty minutes. At the end of that time we had captured sixteen guns with their caissons, horses, ammunition, &c., beside quantities of camp and garrison equipage, intrenching tools and other property. About three hundred prisoners also fell into our hands, one of whom was a Lieutenant-Colonel, and last, but not least, a battle flag, which was brought in by one of the regiments of Bell's brigade, and presented to Gen. Butler.

In these brilliant operations of the Eighteenth Corps the conduct of Hinks' division of colored troops is deserving of unmeasured praise. These negroes had the hardest part of the rebel line to carry. They did their work gallantly, and their commendation is heard on every hand. Gen. Smith had not been favorably impressed by what negro troops had heretofore accomplished in the battles where they have been engaged, and it was with serious misgiving that he intrusted them with the important work of making the advance upon the left. Their splendid conduct he fully appreciates, and he told me this afternoon that he should make special mention of them in his official report. The enemy did very little to disturb us during the night.

The day, up to this hour, (4 P. M.,) has been remarkably quiet. The spires of Petersburgh tower grandly up about two miles distant from our line of battle, and the streets and houses are visible by the help of good glasses. From the heights, which we garrison, the city is entirely at the mercy of our artillery, but there seems to be no disposition on our part to attack. The rebels this morning, from batteries across the Appomattox, threw shells for an hour or two, into our lines. There were a great many narrow escapes reported, but I have heard of no special injury to anybody.

Gen. Grant, this afternoon, visited the captured works. He expressed himself confident that these fortifications were the key of Petersburgh, and he could march his army into the place whenever he chose.

I have just learned that an order has been issued by Gen. Meade to attack the enemy at 6 P. M., for the purpose of feeling his strength in front. The movement will be participated in by three corps, viz.: the Ninth, (Burnside,) on the extreme left; the Second, (Hancock,) in the centre, and the Eighteenth (Smith) on the left, resting on the Appomattox. I shall stop writing, and sally out to see the battle.

Before I finish, let me add a fact which I have just been told, going to prove the valorous conduct of the negro troops in yesterday's charge. Col. Wright's regiment, the First United States, lost nine of the twenty officers with which it went into the fight, and had twenty enlisted men killed, and one hundred and ten wounded. The names of the injured officers are: Capt. Rich, Company C, severely wounded; Lieut. Hill, Company C, severely; Lieut. Burnham, Company C, slightly; Lieut. Kilpatrick, Company D, severely; Capt. Parlin, Company E, slightly; Capt. Brazee, Company F, slightly; Lieut. Parker, Company F, slightly; Capt. Houston, Company I, slightly; Lieut. Simonson, Company I, severely.

10 P. M.—The Ninth, Second and Eighteenth Corps attacked the enemy according to programme, at 6 o'clock. The movement was inaugurated with heavy artillery firing, and the infantry almost simultaneously advanced along our extended line. The rebels replied promptly to our fire, developing themselves in considerable force, both of artillery and infantry. Our troops had to pass from the heights we hold down into the valley of the Appomattox, to reach the enemy, who were posted on the opposite elevated ground across the river, about two miles distant. It was a sublime sight to witness our long lines of battle moving over the corn and oat-fields in the direction of the rebel batteries, skirmishers deployed a hundred yards in advance of the solid supporting columns, banners flaunting, and officers on horseback directing the advance. But the marvellous and exciting spectacle was soon shut from view, by clouds of dense smoke from the belching cannon and rattling muskets, which also changed the golden sun to a blood red hue. Most of the firing was done by the Ninth and Second Corps. What it has resulted in I am unable to say. For an hour and a half it was almost incessant, when it gradually dwindled down to a sporadic volley. I am inclined to think that the rebels were found in greater numbers than were expected, and that our forces were quietly withdrawn. Ambulances, with cursing drivers and wounded men, are now passing headquarters toward the hospitals in the rear, but I have no means at this moment of knowing whether our losses are heavy—I incline to the belief that they are not.

I am told that Gen. Butler's command is not to merge its identity with the Army of the Potomac, but will operate on the right wing of the grand army, independently of Gen. Meade.

I forward herewith a list of the white soldiers, of the Eighteenth Corps, received yesterday and to-day, at the field hospital.

The Operations of Thursday—Advance of the Army of the Potomac Upon Petersburgh—The Pontooning of the James—The Negro Troops.

From Our Special Correspondent.

Headquarters Army of the Potomac,
In Front of Petersburgh,
Thursday, June 16, 1864.

Four corps of the army having crossed the James River in safety, leaving one corps, with one division (Wilson's) of cavalry to protect the crossing of the trains and the rear, operations against Richmond were renewed. On Tuesday, the 14th, the Eighteenth Corps, Gen. Smith, which embarked on transports at the White House, the 12th and 13th inst., passed up James River, and was disembarked at Bermuda Hundred. This corps immediately moved up the left bank of the Appomattox for a few miles, when it crossed that stream and marched in the direction of Petersburgh. Only a short distance had been gained before a small force of the enemy were encountered. He was steadily forced back until a stand was made at a point some two miles from the river, where there was an earth fortification, flanked by formidable intrenchments. At this point a most sanguinary contest took place, the details of which, and of the whole movement of this column, have been furnished you by another correspondent. The negro command attached to the Eighteenth Corps, gained imperishable honors at the fort referred to—words of praise, indeed, are spoken by every one—for making a dashing charge, capturing a fort, together with two guns and between 200 and 300 prisoners. As well may be imagined, the contest was a fearful one; and the negroes, stung to madness by the inhuman butchery of their companions at Fort Pillow and elsewhere, proved themselves to be fully equal in personal prowess to the "best men" of the self-vaunted people of the South. In evidence of this, it is related by responsible eye-witnesses that some of these men, who received thigh and other severe wounds in the charge, brought off their muskets with them.

Driven from their stronghold, the enemy fell back sulkily to their works, constructed immediately in front of Petersburgh, which they reached yesterday. The Second Corps, Gen. Hancock, which crossed the James River from near Charles City Court-house during the day and night previous, opportunely arrived and relieved the overworked Eighteenth Corps in the earthworks that command had captured during the day, together with 16 pieces of artillery, in which the One Hundred and Seventeenth New-York acted a conspicuous part. The works erected by the enemy for defensive purposes, by a little digging, were speedily rendered useful for offensive operations. The enemy's force first encountered was commanded by Gen. Wise, but only a few hours had elapsed after the fight had been opened in sight of Petersburgh, than Gen. Beauregard came down from Richmond, and during yesterday and to-day the enemy have been pouring their troops into Petersburgh both by railway and on foot from Richmond; and the opinion is freely expressed in army circles that the fate of the rebellion will be decided between this point and the rebel Capital.

Yesterday and to-day the Ninth and Fifth Army Corps crossed the James, and are now in position for effective service. Up to this hour of writing, 6 o'clock P. M., only portions of the Eighteenth and Second Army Corps have been engaged.

It is too early in the fight to predict what will be the result of the contest immediately at this point. The capture of Petersburgh will be one important step taken toward the capture of Richmond. This place being on the most direct channel between the northern and southern portions of the so-called Confederacy, and within striking distance of the only line of communication between these points left, the capture of Petersburgh assumes an importance as a basis for military operations against Richmond never before, I believe, fully appreciated. The army never was in better spirits or more sanguine of the final triumph of the Union cause. During this whole campaign the fact has been fully demonstrated that a large and apparently unwieldy army, with all its trappings and munitions of war, can be made as mobile, when a master mind has the direction of affairs, as an army of one-fourth its size. Five times during a period of less than five weeks Lee has been forced to abandon formidable works to follow up this army, until he is forced into a position where the commencement looks like a beginning of the end. Petersburgh is defended by two principal forts, intrenchments, redoubts and rifle pits; our army has already secured all of these except the last line before uncovering the forts, and when this last line has been taken the forts themselves will soon be made to succumb. As I write, the left of the Eighteenth and a part of the Second Corps are hotly engaged, and before closing I may have something more definite to communicate in regard to the fall of Petersburgh, the church spires of which are plainly visible.

The pontoon bridges across the James River are the largest ever put down in this country. No person without actual experience can fully realize the difficulties surrounding such an undertaking. One of the bridges, which was laid under the immediate superintendence of Capt. Newel, Company C, Fifteenth New-York Volunteers, engineers, is composed of one hundred pontoons. When the rapid current of the James is borne in mind, it is almost impossible to believe that such a bridge could be put down in the brief space of three and a half hours, as this was. The bridge was completed at 12 o'clock Tuesday night, and just as it was about to be put to use the careless pilot of a ferry-boat ran into the structure, so that most of the work had to be done over again.

As everybody seems to have negro on the brain in the army, I may be pardoned for again alluding to the colored troops in this letter. A single day's work has wiped out a mountain of prejudice, and fairly turned the popular current of feeling in this army in favor of the down-trodden race; and every one who has been with them on the field has some story to relate of their gallant conduct in action, or their humanity and social qualities. The capture of the fort before referred to is related, among other things, in evidence of their manhood and gallantry; taking prisoners in the exciting moment of actual hand-to-hand fighting, in face of the Fort Pillow and other similar rebel atrocities perpetrated upon their colored companions in arms, elsewhere, as evidence of their humanity—that they are really something more than the stolid brute, such as some people profess to believe. But, next to bravery, one impromptu act of theirs has done more than all else to remove a supposed natural prejudice against them. Wounded officers of two different brigades, in the Second Corps, tell me that, when they relieved the colored troops in front Wednesday night, their men had been out of rations all day, and were very hungry, as may well be supposed. When this fact became known to the negroes, to use the expressive language of a wounded officer, "They emptied their haversacks and gave the contents to our boys." The colored troops, I have had opportunity to know, bear their honors meekly—as become men. Hereafter the vile oath and offensive epithet will not be blurted out against the negro soldier and in his presence, upon every favorable opportunity, as has too generally heretofore been the practice. This will be exclusively confined to the professional stragglers, who are never at the front when danger is here.

The Second Corps in Line at Petersburgh—Assault on the Enemy's Lines.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Headquarters Second Army Corps, near Petersburgh, Va. Friday, June 17, 1864.

After a severe march of twenty-four hours from Fort Powhatan, on the James, at which point it crossed, the Second Corps, under Hancock, reached this place on the evening of the 15th. A portion of this command was immediately placed in position, occupying in part the earthworks captured the day previous by Gen. Butler's troops, in which, by the way, the negro troops figured conspicuously. These works offer an advantageous position to our troops, commanding the Prince George turnpike, which is strongly held by Birney, much to the discomfiture of the enemy, who last night made six desperate attempts to retake their lost works and drive Birney from his position across the road. Each assault was handsomely repulsed, with heavy loss to the enemy.

The ball opened yesterday evening at six o'clock with a general attack by the Eighteenth Corps on the right, the Second in the centre, and Burnside on the left. Birney, within fifteen minutes, took the first line of works in his front and held them; the second he found too strong.

CAPE RACE, Monday, June 20.

The steamship North American, from Liverpool on the 9th, via Londonderry on the 10th inst., passed this point at 2 o'clock yesterday (Sunday) morning, en route to Quebec. The dates are five days later.

The Hibernia reached Liverpool early on the morning, and City of London on the afternoon, of the 8th.

The ship Rockingham, from Callao for Queenstown, was burnt by the pirate Alabama, April 23, in latitude 15° south, longitude 32° west.

The Alabama was spoken the following day, by a vessel which had arrived at London.

In the House of Commons, on the 8th, the bill for closing public houses, on a two-thirds vote of the surrounding inhabitants, was defeated by 257 majority.

THE DANO-GERMAN QUESTION.

The Conference was to meet on the afternoon of the 9th.

The Paris Constitutionnel learns that Austria and Prussia consent to a prolongation of the armistice for a fortnight.

It is pointed out that the question of frontier is momentous for the Danes, as the line of the Schleswig is of first-rate strategic importance, while the frontier proposed by the Germans is perfectly indefensible, and would leave the Danes always at the mercy of Germany. Hence the line of the Schlei is understood to be the Danish ultimatum.

It is confirmed that the Emperor of Russia has transferred to the House of Oldenburg all claims of the Imperial family of Russia, to the Holstein succession.

FRANCE.

Politics are unimportant. The bourse was steady. Rentes, 67f. 5c.

The Emperor has rejected the appeal of LA POMMERAIS for a commutation of sentence.

RUSSIA.

M. DE KISSALEFF, the Russian Minister at Rome, is recalled. This is regarded as a mark of the Czar's displeasure at the recent proceedings of the Pope relative to Poland.

The duty upon most kinds of goods exported from Russia and Poland for purposes of European commerce has been abolished.

The news from other parts of the continent is entirely unimportant.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

In the London money market the demand for discount continued very moderate, and the open market was easy, but the bank rate remained without change, owing to the demand for gold for the Continent. The funds were quiet but rather firmer.

LATEST VIA LONDONDERRY.

LIVERPOOL, Friday, June 10.

The steamship Germania, from New-York, arrived at Southampton on the 9th instant.

LONDON, Friday, June 10.

In the House of Commons, the question of federal recruiting in Ireland is being debated. Strong remonstrances were made against it. Earl RUSSELL complained of the non-attention of the Washington Government to the representations made on the subject by Lord LYONS.

The conference has been extended to June 26. No advance has been made in the settlement of the existing difficulties, and it is feared that hostilities will be resumed between the Danes and Germans.

THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE ENROLLMENT ACT AFFIRMED BY AN ILLINOIS COURT.—In the United States Circuit Court, Judges DAVID DAVIS and S. H. TREAT, upon the bench, an important decision was rendered on Wednesday last. It was on a motion to quash the indictment in the case of the "United States vs. JOHN GRAHAM and others," for resistance to the enrollment in Fulton County last Summer. The case was ably argued for the prosecution by Messrs. LAWRENCE, WELDON and W. H. HERNDON, and by Messrs. JUDD and JAMES for the defense. The court rendered a decision affirming the constitutionality of the Enrollment Act, based upon the provision of the Constitution empowering Congress to raise and equip armies.

This is the first decision under the Enrollment Act rendered in this State and is therefore important.

The motion to squash the indictment was granted, on the ground that the punishment of the particular class of offenders charged was not specially provided for in the Act of July, 1863. It was admitted, however, that the Act as amended by the Act of February, 1864, covers the whole point, and that, as the law now stands, resistance to the enrollment is liable to the severest penalties.

The decision was rendered by Judge TREAT, Judge DAVIS concurring.—Springfield Illinois Journal.

THE MORGAN RAID.

Its Secret History—Its Connection with Vallandigham's Return.

From the Indianapolis Journal.

It becomes our duty to communicate to the public some facts connected with the history of the late Morgan raid in Kentucky and the arrival of Mr. VALLANDIGHAM in Ohio. About three weeks ago it was stated in this city by two men, one of whom lives in Indiana and the other in Kentucky, that within ten days from that time MORGAN would enter Kentucky with not less than four thousand cavalry, and would be joined by large reinforcements from Kentucky and Indiana. They stated distinctly that the plan was to draw Gen. BURBRIDGE into the Eastern part of Kentucky, and by a rapid march pass around him and to the west of him, seize Lexington and Frankfort, and especially to capture and hold as prisoner Gov. BRAMLETTE; then to march rapidly to Louisville, seize the immense Government stores in that city, possess themselves of whatever they wanted, expecting, at the same time, to be able to procure transportation, by means of which they could cross the Ohio River, and seize the Cities of Jeffersonville and New-Albany. At the same time, as a part of the programme, forces were to be collected in Owen County, Kentucky, which were to pass down the Kentucky River in steamboats or barges, and capture the City of Madison. The most material part of the plan was the capture of Gov. BRAMLETTE, which would place the government of Kentucky in the hands of Lieut.-Gov. JACOBS, whom they claimed, whether rightfully or not, to be in full fellowship with the rebellion, and would employ the resources of the State and arm the people to resist the Government. After the capture of Louisville they were to march down the Louisville and Nashville road and destroy the tresslework and tunnel at Muldraugh's Hill, and the bridge across Green River at Munfordsville, thus cutting off SHERMAN'S communications. This scheme was regarded as being chimerical, especially that part of it relating to the capture of Gov. BRAMLETTE. Nevertheless, Gov. BRAMLETTE was promptly informed of the threatened invasion of Kentucky by MORGAN. Subsequent events have proven that these men knew whereof they spoke, were acting in concert with, and thoroughly informed of the designs and movements of the rebels. Gen. BURBRIDGE was drawn into the eastern part of Kentucky, MORGAN marched entirely around him, and his presence in the State was scarcely known until a portion of his forces struck and destroyed the Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad between Paris and Cynthiana. MORGAN'S plan was frustrated by the rapid pursuit by Gen. BURBRIDGE, and the prompt movement of troops from Cincinnati upon Cynthiana. A portion of his command, however, proceeded rapidly to Frankfort, for the capture of Gov. BRAMLETTE. BRAMLETTE retired into the small fort, which had been previously erected at Frankfort, carrying with him the archives of the State, and with a small force, hastily collected, determined to resist to the last extremity. The fort was invested by the rebels for three days, and two flags of truce were sent to Gov. BRAMLETTE, demanding his surrender, which he contemptuously rejected, declaring that he would never surrender while there was a man left to fire a gun. In the meantime, the victory which BURBRIDGE had gained over the rebels at Cynthiana, and the rapid advance of forces to the relief of Frankfort and Louisville, compelled the rebels to raise the siege and look out for their own safety and escape.

The same men stated at the same time that Mr. VALLANDIGHAM would be in Hamilton, Ohio, on the 15th day of June, to attend the Grand Council of his friends, and with the intention of remaining in the State at all hazards, bidding defiance to the Government, and asserting that his friends in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, were thoroughly prepared for all consequences. This part of the prediction has also been verified. Mr. VALLANDIGHAM arrived in Hamilton day before yesterday, and made a false, malignant and inflammatory speech against the Government, distinctly intimating that he and his friends were fully prepared to resist its authority. That his coming and the whole programme were widely known throughout Indiana, is conclusively proven by additional facts. On Monday and Tuesday of this week large numbers of Copperhead politicians, numbering not less than one hundred, representing nearly every county in the State, had assembled without public notice, and were engaged in secret caucus, with closed and guarded doors. A delegation from this caucus proceeded to Hamilton on Wednesday morning, to welcome Mr. VALLANDIGHAM, and take part in the Grand Council to be held at that place.

As an incident in the programme, it might be stated that the Cincinnati Enquirer, on Sunday morning, contained an article of a most inflammatory and dangerous character. To all intents and purposes, exhorting the people of Kentucky to unite with JOHN MORGAN, and resist the tyranny of the Federal Government. This article was so dangerous in its character that Maj.-Gen. HEINTZELMAN promptly suppressed that part of the edition which was designed for circulation in Kentucky.

Southern News.

We have received a copy of the Petersburgh Register of June 15, which contains the following telegrams:

FROM NORTH GEORGIA.

A BATTLE IMMINENT—DEATH OF LIEUT.-GEN. POLK.

ATLANTA, Monday, June 13.

The enemy opened slowly with artillery on our position yesterday afternoon, after the storm passed, and continued firing until nightfall. They opened again early this morning. Artillery firing continued when the trains left Marietta. Both armies are gradually moving toward our right. As rains have ceased, it is supposed active operations will again commence. The trains from the front to-day bring very few wounded.

The following dispatch was received by Colonel THRASHER at noon to-day, from Maj. WEST, of Gen. POLK'S Staff:

"Lieut.-Gen. POLK was struck by a cannon shot to-day, about 11 o'clock, and instantly killed. Gens. JOHNSTON, HARDEE and JACKSON were with him when he fell.

GLORIOUS VICTORY IN MISSISSIPPI.

THE YANKEES ROUTED WITH HEAVY LOSS.

GUNTOWN, via MOBILE, Tuesday, June 14.

Gen. FORREST'S victory is greater than at first supposed. Our loss is 150 killed and 450 wounded. The enemy's loss is 1,000 killed and 3,000 captured. The balance is scattered through the woods, and are still being pursued, having traveled 58 miles in 31 hours. The entire army is destroyed.

"Fort Pillow" was the battle-cry during the fight, and hence their anxiety to escape. They are still being pursued, and many more will be captured before reaching Memphis.

We have captured about 3,000 prisoners, 250 wagons, with supplies and ordnance stores, 3,000 stand of small arms, and about 20 pieces of splendid artillery. The fight was stubborn, and the enemy stood till knocked down with the butts of the guns.

We had about 3,000 in the fight. The enemy had 10,000.

ANOTHER DISPATCH.

MOBILE, Monday, June 13.

A special to the Advertiser from Tupelo, 13th, says FORREST, with Bells', Crossland, Lyon's, Rucker's and Johnstons' brigades, and Rice and Morton's batteries, whipped the enemy 12,000 strong, of all arms, with great slaughter, capturing all things previously reported. FORREST'S loss is reported from 600 to 1,000, among them Col. [illegible], of Bell's brigade, Adjt. POPE, of the Seventh Tennessee, and KIRK, of Rice's battery. The Seventh Kentucky is reported to have been ambuscaded and badly cut up. The enemy scattered, and FORREST pursued beyond Ripley. The heavy rains may retard the enemy's retreat. FORREST is on all sides of him.

VIRGINIA.

SHERIDAN ROUTED.

RICHMOND, Tuesday, June 14.

The following official dispatch has been received:

HEADQUARTERS, June 13—10 P. M.

To the Secretary of War:

A dispatch just received from HAMPTON, states that he defeated the enemy's cavalry near Trevillian's Depot, with heavy loss, capturing 500 prisoners, beside the wounded. The enemy retreated in confusion, apparently by the route he came, leaving his dead and wounded upon the field.

At daylight this morning it was discovered that the army of GRANT had left our front, when our skirmishers advanced two miles, and failing to discover the enemy, were withdrawn. A body of cavalry and infantry from the Long Bridge advanced to Riddle's shop, and were driven back this evening two miles after sharp skirmishing. R. E. LEE, General.

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF NORTHERN VIRGINIA, Tuesday, June 14—9 P. M.

Hon. Secretary of War:

SIR—The force of the enemy, mentioned in my last dispatch as being on the Long Bridge road, disappeared during the night. It was probably advanced to cover the movement of the main body, most of which, so far as I can learn, crossed the Chickahominy at Long Bridge and below, and has reached James River at Westover and Wilcox's Landing. A portion of Gen. GRANT'S army upon leaving our front, at Cold Harbor, is reported to have proceeded to the White House, and embarked at that place. Everything is said to have been removed, and the depot at the White House broken up. The cars, engines, railroad iron and bridge timber that had been brought to that point have also been shipped.

Very respectfully, &c., R. E. LEE, General.

FROM STAUNTON AND GEN. HUNTER'S ARMY.—Mr. EDWARDS, for several years past a resident of Staunton, Virginia, arrived in this city yesterday, direct from that place. He came as far as Beverly with the eleven hundred prisoners recently captured by Gen. HUNTER. When our army entered Staunton Mr. EDWARDS was one of four or five men who remained in the town, and he would have been driven into the rebel militia, only that he shut himself up in his room until Gen. HUNTER took possession of the place. The rebels were terribly whipped at Weirs' Cave, or Piedmont, as the battle is called. They suffered dreadfully in killed. They threw up fortifications of fence rails, and when a shell or ball from our guns would strike a pile of the rails, the slaughter was very great, the splinters and fragments of rails being quite as destructive as the shells. The rebels acknowledged themselves badly beaten and all were very chop-fallen.—Wheeling Intelligencer, June 18.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Highway Robbers Convicted.

AN EXCELLENT PIECE OF DETECTIVE BUSINESS.

It will be recollected that Mr. DANIEL H. BROOKS, of the firm of BROOKS BROTHERS, on the 28th of May last, while riding from the depot at Portchester to his residence, was stopped by two highwaymen in disguise; one seized the horses and intimidated the driver, while the other presented a four-barrel pistol to the breast of Mr. BROOKS, at the same time demanding his money or his life. Mrs. BROOKS was in the carriage at the time. Mr. BROOKS not feeling disposed to die at that particular time, handed to the robber a roll of greenbacks amounting in all to $9. This roll of bills the robber took and then permitted Mr. BROOKS to drive on.

The following day Mr. BROOKS applied to the Commissioners of Police, and Detectives SLOWEY and TIEMAN were detailed to examine into the affair and arrest the guilty parties. These shrewd officers, in a few days, got track of the suspected parties, and on the 7th of June the two robbers were in custody. They were conveyed to Westchester County for trial, and on Friday, June 17, they were put on trial before Judge BROWN, at White Plains. The jury found both guilty. On Saturday, the 18th inst., Judge BROWN sentenced WILLIAM LEE to fifteen years in State Prison, at Sing Sing, he being the one who presented the pistol at Mr. BROOKS; the other, JAMES SWEENEY, was sentenced to ten years State Prison, the Judge making a distinction of five years, in consequence of LEE being the oldest, he being 24 years of age and SWEENEY 16 years. One noticeable incident of this affair is that the robbery was committed on a Saturday, and three weeks from that day (on a Saturday) the two robbers were lodged in the State Prison.

Mr. BROOKS offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of these men. The two detectives have done well, and are not only entitled to the reward but to the thanks of the community.

The very fact spreading abroad in Westchester County of the robbery caused a very great alarm. The residents there were afraid to ride out, fearing to meet with highwaymen. This matter has now been settled, and will act as a terror to others who might be inclined to follow the example of these two men.

The City Railroads.

The Joint Special Committee of the Common Council, "to inquire into the evils resulting from the illegal and improper manner in which many of the City railroad companies have laid their rails," and to consider what further Municipal legislation is necessary to add to the convenience of railroad travel and to increase the revenues of the City, gave a public hearing yesterday. About fifty persons were present, mostly cartmen, who have already petitioned the Common Council to pass an ordinance requiring the laying of a uniform pattern of rail in the City, which is of least hindrance to ordinary vehicles.

The Chairman, Alderman RYERS, said the committee would first hear complaints against the Belt Railroad.

Mr. EDWARD GILBERT, for the cartmen, said their complaint was not only against the form of rail used by that company, but the manner in which the grade of the streets was seriously disturbed and altered by them and by other companies. He charged the Belt Road Company with wishing to obstruct the cartmen in their vocation, and to monopolize the freight carrying as much as possible, having already begun to run freight cars. The police were subservient to the railroads, he insisted, and acted arbitrarily with the cartmen in all questions of difficulty between them and car-drivers and conductors.

Ex-Judge EDMONDS also spoke for the cartmen, and proceeded with great minuteness to show that the railroad interests were rapidly acquiring a monopoly of the streets, regardless of vast destruction to ordinary vehicles, by laying improper rails, and to real estate, by passing through narrow business streets. He instanced cases of decreases of value and rents of property from the latter cause.

The Common Council, he acknowledged, could not prevent all the encroachments of the railroad monopolies, but to a certain extent they had the right to protect the interests of the citizens.

Alderman RYERS said the committee conceded, in a general sense, the evils charged to the railroad companies, but they wanted facts upon which they could base the necessary action for protection of cartmen and others whose interests are damaged, so far as it is possible to afford it on the part of the Common Council.

Mr. RICHARD CARMAN inveighed against the Eighth-avenue Railroad Company. He is largely interested in property at Carmansville and vicinity, and set forth very forcibly the need of more railroad facilities for that part of the City. Now it is dependent upon the Hudson River Railroad Company. The Eighth-avenue Company were to extend the track with the grading of the avenue, which they have failed to do. A year ago he was told, by Geo. LAW that the iron for the new track was contracted for, and recently another officer of the company said the rails were ordered, and would soon be at hand. Mr. CARMAN did not say which of these stories he has most faith in.

A Mr. EARLE made a general attack upon the railroads, and contended that they could be run at three-cent fares.

Mr. MICHAEL CURRAN, a cartman, spoke with great effect in favor of the grooved rail used by the Second, Sixth and Eighth-avenue Companies, and argued that the cartmen were not opposed to, but favored railroads.

The committee, by request, adjourned to 3 P. M. on Thursday, to listen to remarks by merchants who could not attend yesterday.

Naval Movements.

THE LAUNCH TO-MORROW.

At 11 o'clock to-morrow forenoon, the iron-clad Puritan will be launched. All the officers of the station are expected to be present, and probably the largest audience that ever witnessed an affair of the kind at Greenpoint. The vessel is building at Mr. T. F. ROWLAND'S yard.

THE NAVY-YARD IRON-CLADS.

Within a few days the new iron-clad steamer Tonawanda, will be ready for sea, at Philadelphia. She will be the first vessel of her class to go into active service, although the Miantanomah was afloat before her. The three sister ships of the Tonawanda, are the first built by Government constructors, a regular navy-built armored craft, never yet having been put in commission. These vessels have each two turrets, in which very heavy armament will be carried. The second batch of Government ships is progressing satisfactorily, but cannot be finished this year.

The Homicide of Policeman Duryea.

HIS SUPPOSED MURDERER IN CUSTODY.

A young man known as JOHN CAHILL, alias "Nuge" Cahill, was brought before Coroner NAUMANN yesterday, on the charge of being the person who murdered Policeman GEORGE W. DURYEA, at the corner of Second-avenue and Sixty-fifth-street, on the afternoon of the 10th of May last, by shooting him through the head while that officer was in the discharge of his duty. Since the commission of the homicide, the Police throughout this City and Brooklyn, have been endeavoring to secure the offender. From information imparted to them they were induced to believe that CAHILL was, without doubt, the guilty person. The latter is well known throughout the Eighteenth and Twenty-first Precincts as a bad character. In 1860 he was arrested, tried, convicted and sentenced to State Prison for the crime of burglary. He was released from Sing Sing but a month since. The Coroner committed him to the Tombs to await an indictment. He is 23 years of age and a native of Ireland.

Base Ball.

BEST CONTESTED GAME, SO FAR, OF THE SEASON.

Undoubtedly the best contested and most exciting game of base ball this season came off yesterday on the ground of the Mutual Club, at Hoboken, between that club and the Newark Club, of Newark, N. J. A large assemblage of the lovers of the game were present, and we venture to say that no game this season has afforded so much pleasure. Some most excellent play was exhibited on both sides, the "double play" of the Mutuals being very fine indeed. On the eight innings the score stood; Mutual 15, Newark 19, thus compelling the Mutual to make at least five on the ninth innings, and put the Newarkites out with a round 0 beside, or else lose the game. This was accomplished, however, as the following score will show. There was great cheering at the conclusion, the admirers of the Mutual, who stood by their favorite club to the last, being in high glee. To show the confidence entertained in the Mutual Club winning, one bet of $35 to $5 was made at the commencement of the ninth innings that that club would win.

MARINERS' FAMILY INDUSTRIAL SOCIETY.—This excellent society held a strawberry festival and fair on the afternoons and evenings of to-day, Wednesday and Thursday, at the Home, Staten Island, which should be liberally patronized, and where all are invited. On Thursday the anniversary is celebrated.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

RECEPTION OF THE FORTY-FIRST (DEKALB) REGIMENT.—The Forty-first Regiment, Col. Von Gilsa, was tendered a public reception yesterday afternoon. The regiment, escorted by the Fifth New-York, assembled in the City Hall Park at 3¾ o'clock, and passed in review before several members of the Board of Common Council. The Mayor was unable to be present, but sent a letter of regret to Col. Gilsa. The regiment then marched to the Liberty Garden, in the Bowery, where the returned veterans partook of an excellent dinner.

EMIGRATION.—The emigration to this country during the last thirty days is without precedent. Over 30,000 foreigners have landed within that period at Castle Garden, the majority of whom are from Germany—most of them destined for the agricultural districts of the West. Many find an inducement to remain in the vicinity of New-York, owing to the demand for labor on the railroads running from the City. There are now standing applications at Castle Garden for over 10,000 laborers for public works.

ARRIVAL OF REGIMENTS.—The Ninety-ninth New-York Regiment arrived in this City yesterday morning, with one hundred and fifty men. This regiment has been in the service for three years, and has participated in several important battles. Thirty-one men of the Second New-Hampshire, and twenty men of the Second Heavy (New-York) Artillery, arrived at the Park Barracks yesterday morning.

LECTURE BY GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN.—An audience respectable in numbers assembled last evening at the Cooper Institute, to listen to a lecture by GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN, on "The Course of Empire," delivered in aid of the suffering families of volunteers. The lecture was replete with happy hits, and elicited frequent and hearty bursts of applause.

The Joannes Libel Case—Precedence is given to Prison Cases, and the Trial is Postponed.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Judge Russell.

The People vs. John Clancy.—It being generally known that the noted libel case, in which George the Count Joannes is complainant and John Clancy, editor of the Leader, is defendant and "prisoner at the bar," was to come on for trial yesterday, a grand rush for the Court of General Sessions was the result. Every nook and corner of the court was crowded to its utmost capacity with every variety of classes, promiscuously packed. Among these were many faces known to the community, and whose owners are in high repute. All were, however, doomed to disappointment, and their faces gave expression to the emotion, when the court announced that, after consultation with the District Attorney, it had been thought but just to try the other cases ahead of this case on the calendar, first. Hence the case was adjourned until a week from to-day. The Count, who was present, did not wish it to come off a week from yesterday, for on that day he had a "motion to make" in another court. The Count's wishes were regarded, as the result indicates.

The Count Joannes Everywhere Present in the Courts—His Residence as Set Forth in an Affidavit.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Judge Cardozo.

Joannes vs. Clancy.—Upon the Count's motion to vacate the order in this case, compelling him to file security for costs as a non-resident, he yesterday submitted the following characteristic affidavit:

In the Court of Common Pleas for the City and County of New-York.

George, the Count Joannes, publicly known as the Count Johannes, author, lecturer, tragedian, &c., plaintiff, against John Clancy, publicly known as the editor and proprietor of the New-York Leader newspaper, defendant. Complaint for libel, and damages thereof.

Plaintiff's supplemental affidavit—And now comes the undersigned, the plaintiff in the above entitled action, and in addition to my previous affidavit already filed in the matter of security for costs, hereby depose and say that some months prior to my leaving the City of Boston, Mass., to become a resident of the City of New-York, I gradually brought to a close my employment in the legal profession for clients, as special attorney and advocate, as duly authorized by the statutes of Massachusetts; and I further depose that I received at the Boston Academy of Music, on Saturday evening, March the twelfth, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, a testimonial benefit from the liberal citizens of Boston, Mass., "the friends of justice and the foes to persecution," and which, as a sum total, I received nearly twelve hundred dollars, and which I received as a farewell compliment prior to my departure from that city to become a resident of New-York, to which City I had been publicly invited, following the malicious persecutions in Boston for my political allegiance to the Constitution of the United States of America, as expressed in my orations in Faneuil Hall, I, therefore, resolved to reside with my wife in the City of New-York, where the employment of my speech and pen would not be subjected to a persecuting fanaticism, and consequently in one week after the said testimonial benefit, I left Boston and arrived in the City of New-York on the 20th day of March, A. D., 1864, and have resided in said City and within the jurisdiction of this court since that date, as consecutive documents already submitted to this court prove to establish; and I further depose and say (and it is humbly submitted as a suggestion to the Honorable Commissioners) that by the Constitution of New-York, article 2, section 1, a distinction is taken between an inhabitant and a resident, and in regard to the highest privilege of the franchise to wit, with other legal rights to vote as citizens having been only four months a resident of the county can legally vote therein and it requires only to be a resident for thirty days in the district from which the officer is to be chosen for whom the citizen desires to vote, whereas, I have been a bona fide resident and within the jurisdiction of this court now nearly ninety days, and intend still to reside in the City of New-York as already sworn by me. And I further depose and say that having duly obtained a judgment and costs in my favor in the Superior Court of said Boston, amounting with interest to this date to about two thousand five hundred dollars (2,500) against the "Bee Printing Company" and members of the same, for a libel upon me and my name, and the said judgment also being against an inhabitant of the City of New-York, to wit: Mr. Horace H. Day, was an additional reason why, when and how I resolved to become a resident of the City of New-York, that I might conduct the cause myself according to my custom, and which cause I duly commenced in the Superior Court of the City of New-York, having received the exemplified judgment and papers back from my friend, Robert D. Holmes, Esq., Counsellor-at-Law of this City, upon my said arrival in the City of New-York, with intent, as aforesaid, to be a resident of said City, as my residence would supersede the legal requirements of security by my attorney or myself as plaintiff, which facts can be verified by the said Robert D. Holman, Esq., his associate in business, to wit: William McHeay, Esq., while the said exemplified records, with the signature of the Chief Justice, the Clerk and the seal of the court are respectfully submitted to this honorable court, and I finally depose that each day's residence by me in this City proves my right as a citizen to resist, and upon principle this dilatory plea of security for costs by defendant, for as I intend to continue my residence in this City, it is self-evident that long before the limitation time expires for commencing a libel suit, I shall be entitled to vote as a citizen, resident and inhabitant, when I will instantly recommence thereafter, and it is respectfully submitted to the conscience of the court, for I cannot sacrifice my oath already taken in this matter by giving security when I have duly sworn that I am a resident, and intend so to remain within the jurisdiction of this court; therefore, if security is still insisted upon and granted, after these additional facts and argument thereon, then I shall be compelled, as a point of honor, and the conscientious solemnity of an oath, to appeal, or, as I may be advised therein, elect nonsuit instanter, and thereafter to begin anew, when time shall have justified my honor and my oath, for my nature revolts against even a suspicion upon either.

GEORGE THE COUNT JOANNES,
Plaintiff in Person.

The Count endeavored to convince the court that there was error in the order compelling him to file security.

In opposition to the motion counsel contended that the point taken, having once been decided, was res adjudicata, and could not be disturbed.

Decision reserved.

The Count in person for motion; Thos. C. Fields opposed.

MONDAY, June 20—P. M.

The Weekly Averages of the old Banks of the City of New-York on Saturday, June 18, 1864, present in the aggregate the following changes from the previous exhibits of June 11:

Increase in Loans	$837,761
Decrease in Specie	1,125,445
Decrease in Circulation	90,361
Decrease in Undrawn Deposits	3,091,481

Including the Clearing-house operations of the week, which show the inter-exchanges between the Banks, and including also the Sub-Treasury balance at the close of the week, the following is the general comparison with the previous exhibit, and also with the movement this time last season:

	July 20, 1863.	June 18, 1864.	June 11, 1864.
Capital	$69,128,000	$69,927,725	$69,927,725
Loans	177,083,295	195,773,583	194,939,821
Specie	28,314,206	22,916,291	24,041,804
Circulation	6,120,252	5,049,457	5,049,457
Gross Deposits	205,370,504	241,304,671	240,790,440
Exchanges	48,267,203	71,858,904	74,253,192
Undrawn	157,123,301	169,445,767	172,538,248
In Sub-Treasury	23,155,641	37,898,758	36,597,790

There is no very marked feature in the present Bank Statement. The increased rate of interest allowed on Deposits at the Treasury has partially affected the Bank line. The Loans and Discounts are a little higher than last Monday, and the Specie average lower, on the considerable export demand of the week.

Although the takers of the new 1881 Loan began to-day to pay in their installments, the market for Money was quite easy, with a free disposition to lend on Government Stocks at 6 ⅌ cent. and miscellaneous collateral at 6@7 ⅌ cent. Some of the National Banks, we believe, accepted 5 ⅌ cent. at call on Governments. The amount of 5 ⅌ cent. Legal-Tenders canceled by the Government to Saturday last is $38,890,700. There is also a reduction of $17,258,872 of outstanding Greenbacks of the ordinary circulation. The two items make a reduction of $56,149,572. The Public Debt of the United States, including all Greenback and Fractional Currency Circulation and unpaid requisitions, now stands $1,719,395,168.

Further re-sales were made to-day of the new 1881s at 106 per cent ex July interest. The old issue brought 112½, with the July coupon included, and there was a good demand for the 5-20s at 105½@106 per cent. The popular subscriptions to the 10-40 years 5 per cent. Loan will soon revive again. They were checked, of course, by the Loan awarded last week, though retail sales of the Bonds continued every day, through the National Banks, pending the new negotiation.

The Railways were in rather better demand at the Stock Exchange to-day, and several of the New-York and Western descriptions show an advance over Saturday's sales. Reading was also better by 1½@2 ⅌ cent. Among the Miscellaneous Shares, Pacific Mail and Cumberland Coal fell off. The Atlantic Steamship Shares sold as Scrip Stock, ($50 paid up,) on same system as Illinois Central Scrip. The new quotation is thus made 170@175, in place of 120@125 last week; the Scrip being subject to further assessments to the amount in all of $50 ⅌ share.

At 4 o'clock the following prices were made as compared with Saturday afternoon. The Railway speculation was very decidedly upward at the close, advancing on the Second Board sales 1@1½ ⅌ cent.

The First National Bank of Kingston, New-York, is in operation, under the management of Mr. JONATHAN H. HASBROUCK, formerly President of the Kingston Bank.

Mr JOHN B. WRIGHT, formerly senior partner in the firm of WRIGHT, GILLETT & RAWSON, wholesale produce merchants, died in his 46th year, at his late residence, in Montague-street, Brooklyn, on Sunday evening, after a lingering illness. He had long been connected with the produce business of this City, as one of the principal receivers of breadstuffs, and was the first President of the Produce Exchange. He was a man of honorable personal character, generous, courteous and upright—qualities which gave him a strong hold on the esteem of his numerous friends, and rendered him highly popular as a merchant.

The following is the statement of the day's business at the office of the Assistant Treasurer of the United States: Total receipts, $8,673,283 15, including for Customs $121,827; payments, $1,239,287 79; balance, $45,332,754 01; 6 ⅌ cent bonds, $6,500,000.

NEW SKIRT FOR 1864.
A NEW AND GREAT INVENTION IN HOOP SKIRTS.
THE DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (OR DOUBLE) STEEL SPRING.
J. I. & J. O. WEST, NO. 97 CHAMBERS-ST., NEW YORK,
Are the owners of the patent and exclusive manufacturers of this,
J. W. BRADLEY'S
PATENTED DUPLEX ELLIPTIC STEEL SPRING SKIRTS.

This invention consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most elastic, flexible and durable spring ever used, enabling the wearer, in consequence of its great elasticity and flexibleness, to place and fold the skirt when in use as easily and with the same convenience as a silk or muslin dress. It entirely obviates and silences the only objections to hoop-skirts, viz.: the annoyance to the wearer as well as the public, especially in crowded assemblies, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, or in any crowded place from the difficulty of contracting them to occupying a small space. This entirely removes the difficulty, while giving the skirt the usual full and symmetrical form, and is the lightest and most stylish and graceful appearance for the street, opera, promenade or house dress. A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterward willingly dispense with the use of them. They are the best quality in every part, and by far the lightest, most durable, comfortable and economical skirt made. Merchants will be supplied as above, and ladies in most first-class retail stores in this City and throughout the different States.

MADAME PUTNAM'S
PATENT STOCKING SUPPORTER.
An invention designed to promote the comfort of ladies and children by doing away with the old method of supporting the stocking by means of an elastic or garter, the injurious effect of which every lady is assured. This new supporter leaves the limbs entirely free, and allows the blood full circulation. It is more easily adjusted and more durable than the common garter. It is peculiarly adapted for children, as it cannot possibly get out of place. Ladies are requested to call and examine the article for themselves.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

The news from Gen. Grant is up to last night. During Sunday and yesterday there were no military operations of any moment, and everything remained quiet. On Friday and Saturday the fighting was quite severe, and our losses considerable, one dispatch setting them down at eight thousand killed and wounded. The advantages gained on those days do not appear to have been particularly decisive, though the rebels were so far forced back that our advanced lines are now within one mile of Petersburgh, and the city is in plain sight under our guns, and can be destroyed with ease should Gen. Grant order it done. The rebel line is described as forming a semi-circle in front of Petersburgh, with the flanks resting on the Appomattox.

Gen. Butler's movement upon the railroad between Richmond and Petersburgh on Thursday was by a very small force, in the face of Lee's advancing army. Notwithstanding the proximity of the large rebel forces, our troops effectually destroyed three or four miles of the road, and detained Lee's troops nearly a whole day, while Gen. Smith was making his attack on the enemy at Petersburgh.

A rebel battery appeared on the north bank of the James on Saturday and fired into two of our transports, without doing any damage. The army gunboats soon drove the enemy off.

Gen. Sherman telegraphs that he was premature in announcing that the rebels had retreated behind the Chattahoochee, though he so stated upon the authority of his corps commanders. He finds the rebel flanks considerably withdrawn, but says that they still hold Kenesaw Mountain as the apex of their position.

Gen. Foster informs the War Department that he is in receipt of a dispatch from the rebel Commander at Charleston, stating that five Union General officers, prisoners of war, have been placed in those portions of Charleston subject to our fire. Gen. Foster asks and has received permission to have an equal number of rebel General officers exposed to similar perils from the enemy's fire.

FROM EUROPE.

The Montreal Company's steamship North American, from Liverpool on the 9th, and Londonderry on the 10th inst., passed Cape Race at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning, bringing intelligence five days later. There is nothing notable in the news. The Dano-German Conference had made no practical progress. It was stated, however, on the authority of a Paris paper, that the Germans consent to the prolongation of the armistice for another fortnight. Denmark absolutely refuses to treat for a settlement on the Schleswig line. The Conference was adjourned to the 25th of June. Russia has transferred to the House of Oldenburgh all the claims of the imperial family of Russia to the Holstein succession. A debate had taken place in the House of Commons, on the question of Federal recruiting in Ireland, and strong remonstrances were made against it by Lord Russell, who is said to have made complaints of the non-attention of the United States authorities to the representations of Lord Lyons on the subject. A moderate Temperance Bill had been defeated in the House of Commons by an overwhelming majority. M. de Kissaleff, the Russian Minister at Rome, is recalled, as a mark, it is said, of the Czar's displeasure at the Pope's proceedings relative to Poland. The duty upon most kinds of goods exported from Russia and Poland, for purposes of Europen commerce, has been abolished. The ship Rockingham, from Callao for Queenstown, was burnt by the pirate Alabama, on the 23d of April, in lat. 15° south, lon. 32° west. The Alabama was spoken on the following day by a vessel which had arrived at London.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Board of Councilmen had no quorum yesterday, and were adjourned to Monday, at 2 P. M.

The Mayor and School Inspectors of the Wards comprising the First District under the new school law, met yesterday to choose Trustees of Schools for the Fourth Ward, and to fill vacancies caused by the recent removals. Eight Trustees were removed, and one remained under the new law; therefore, only four more were to be chosen, making a board of five members. Louis Lochman, Patrick Craw, Daniel Leamy and Wm. Kennedy were appointed. The convention then adjourned sine die.

The Tax Commissioners' difficulty is still unsettled. Yesterday the new board were hunting up the old board to serve papers upon them, in accordance with the recent decision of the Superior Court, but the old board members could not be found. It is disputed that the difficulty can be carried to the Court of Appeals, but is believed that an appeal will be made by the old board, if it is possible, to carry the matter in dispute to the higher court.

George the Count Joannes is very "plenty" in the courts just at present. Yesterday morning he was before Judge Cardozo at 10 o'clock in a motion to have the order compelling him to file security for costs as a non-resident revoked; and in support of his motion he read his affidavit, setting forth in detail the facts making him a resident. At 11 o'clock he was in the General Sessions, fully prepared to assist the District-Attorney in obtaining a verdict against John Clancy as a criminal calumniator. This case was however postponed.

A young man named John Cahill was brought before Coroner Naumann yesterday, on charge of being the murderer of Policeman George W. Duryea, who, it will be remembered, was shot at the corner of Second-avenue and Sixty-fifth-street, on the 16th of May last, while in the discharge of his duty.

A ratification meeting of the Ninth Ward Lincoln and Johnson Campaign Club was held last evening at the Bleecker Building. Addresses were delivered by Hon. H. J. Raymond and Rev. Dr. Foster.

Vallandigham was burned in effigy by the students of Princeton College, on the night of June 18.

The Government Stocks were firm yesterday, and the Railway Shares, at the close of the day, higher than on Saturday. Gold and Exchange 1 per cent. higher. Money easy.

Breadstuffs, Provisions and Whisky opened briskly yesterday at generally advanced prices, but closed less buoyantly. Cotton, Oils, Groceries, Hides, Metals, Fish, Fruit, Seeds and Spices were held with much firmness, but were inactive. The freight market was stronger, with heavier engagements.

The Cattle Market at Allerton's opens this week at prices still more favorable to buyers than last week; 3,162 fresh bullocks were offered yesterday. Government agents were at the yards, and bought a fine lot of 65 head. With a shorter supply than last week, the market has declined, we should judge, from ½c.@1c., prices ranging from 11c.@19c., net, medium to good bullocks selling at about 15c.@17c. The weather was very warm yesterday, tending to depreciate the price of still-fed cattle. The market was not very brisk. Sheep are in good supply, but inactive, generally selling at 6c.@6½c. for shorn, live weight; 7½c. for extra.

The Chicago Convention.

The Copperhead managers, after a good deal of blinking and boggling, have finally concluded to take the bull by the horns. They have settled not to postpone their convention. Under the circumstances, it is the best decision for them. The postponement until September would have been equivalent to an abandonment by them of the field altogether. It would have been taken by the people as a confession that they had no stomach for the fight, and were anxious to delay it to the latest hour possible. No party, in any circumstances, can afford to leave any considerable portion of an election canvass without an organized opposition; for mere opposition without organization never amounts to anything. Least of all would such inaction fail to be ruinous now, when the minds of the people are so keenly alive to the great issue of the day, and are so impatient of everything that looks like false dealing with these issues.

The Anti-Administration party, if it cared to exist longer as a party at all, had no alternative but to take their stand at Chicago, at the time appointed. And yet, how to do it—there's the rub. It is apparent that there is an entire contrariety of opinion between two portions of the party—that one portion is for the immediate and unequivocal adoption of a peace policy, and the other for at least ostensibly supporting the war. The peace section of the party has as much the advantage in talent as it has in boldness and consistency. Though they style themselves peace men, they are known not to be men of a very yielding disposition. Without much doubt they will be in a minority in the convention, but the tone of all their organs indicates that they will insist to the bitter end on having both a platform and a candidate inclined to their side of the party. Indeed, if half of what is said by them is literally acted upon, there will be an actual bolting from the party by the peace men, and an independent nomination, unless a large concession is made to their views. But the great difficulty is that no such concession can be made without making the destruction of the party sure. It is manifest to everybody that the great majority of the people are for the war. However diverse may be their opinions concerning the manner in which the war has been conducted, they still go for its prosecution until its original purpose is fulfilled. No party can directly oppose this feeling and prosper. The shrewder managers of the Anti-Administration party perfectly well understand this. They mean that the convention shall assume no such attitude. But to prevent this and at the same time satisfy the restless spirits which are for peace, is a task which would seem to be beyond the compass of any political adroitness.

The return of Vallandigham is a new embarrassment. The Administration evidently do not choose to interfere with him, because satisfied that the only injury he can do will be an injury to its opponents. Vallandigham is an earnest thoroughpaced peace man. He was one of the five in the House who originally voted against the appropriation of money for the maintenance of the war; and, whatever else may be said of him, he has maintained his consistency throughout. He is a delegate to the Chicago Convention, and will doubtless take a very active part in its proceedings. That action will all go to strengthen the position and the demands of the peace wing of the party; and whatever does that inevitably distracts and weakens the party.

As between the peace men of the party and the temporizing war men, we confess that our good wishes go with the former, rather than with the latter. We have far more respect for those who honestly advocate an abandonment of the war, than for those who pretend to be in its favor, and yet work all the while to embarrass and frustrate it. The war is either a monstrous crime not to be tolerated at all, or it is a patriotic duty demanding the whole-souled support. Between the Union party and the peace wing of the Opposition party, there is really no sound ground to stand upon. No member of the Union party holds himself bound to approve of every action of the Government connected with the war. It is certain that the Government, being human, and therefore fallible, has made many mistakes. Every supporter of the Government is free to judge these mistakes. This, in fact, is not only the right but the duty of every true Union man. Without it, public opinion, which is an indispensable support of the Government, could not be kept strong and healthy. But this occasional dissent from the action of the Administration in certain details of the war, has nothing in common with the systematic, indiscriminate opposition which has been maintained against the war policy of the Administration. So far as the general plan of the war is concerned, it is impossible to devise any other effectual one than that which Lieut.-Gen. Grant is now working out with such grand ability. To clamor against the war, as now conducted, is simply to clamor against the war itself. All pretences of doing it, in good faith, to this war, are but an insult to the public intelligence. The opponents of the Administration, who make no such pretences, are far better deserving of respectful consideration than the other class. It is not probable that they will succeed at Chicago, but at all events they better deserve to rule the party than their half-hearted, insidious, deceptive competitors.

The Results of Volunteering and the $300 Exemption Clause.

The House Military Committee had yesterday under consideration the subject of commutation in connection with the new Conscription Bill, and it is understood that a majority of the committee favor the repeal of the $300 exemption clause. It is doubted, however, and we think with a fair show of reason, whether the House will sustain the views of the majority. If Senator Wilson reports the facts correctly, when he states that, mainly by means of volunteering, the Government has raised, within a period of little more than eight months, not less than six hundred thousand men, there is an argument presented in favor of maintaining the law as it stands, which we take to be altogether too cogent, practical and to the point, to be set aside merely to sustain an abstract theory of the policy of retaining a fixed rate of commutation. It is true, a very large portion of the six hundred thousand recruits of whom Mr. Wilson speaks, are reënlisted men. But that fact, so far from detracting from the merits of the argument, brings out its force, in the strongest possible light. It shows that the United States service, mainly sustained as it has been by volunteering, presents a claim upon those who have entered it, which would be altogether wanting in the case of an absolute conscription. Of the vast body of reënlisted soldiers, there was not a man who had not in the first instance volunteered for the army. And in so far as the exemption fee established under the existing act has tended to maintain the volunteer character of the service, by furnishing a fund for the dispensation of liberal bounties, it has been an unquestionable support to the military requirements of the Government.

Mr. Wilson's figures, whatever they were originally intended to prove, show that after two and a half years of war the service is supplied at the rate of about nine hundred thousand men a year, with just only so much of a compulsory provision in the law as to serve the purpose of a reasonable stimulus to local recruiting bodies throughout the country. Few and far between have been the cases where the conscript had no resource left him but to march to the field, to the neglect of pressing and imperative obligations requiring him to remain at home. Where local volunteer committees have failed to organize a system of relief, such as we have had in successful operation here, we venture to say that in almost all deserving cases the contributions of private friendship have found the ways and means of relief—and this they have done mainly by means of the clause in the Conscription Act which is now threatened with deletion.

We assume in looking at the question in this aspect, that the War Department keeps steadily in view that it is important, not merely to have the ranks of the army numerically full, but that it has a keen regard for the disposition and temper with which men enter the service. We assume, also, that the department no longer regards it as necessary to have a military conscription put in force as an assertion of the power of the Government. It desires, doubtless, to have willing men in the service. And it is in no way committed to the theories of the Directory, which first sought to make an absolute conscription a part of the regular military system of France. What we want is the simple stimulus of a qualified act of conscription which, while it brings home to the conviction of every citizen a clear sense of the duty he owes to the State, shall foster, rather than discourage, that volunteer spirit which has already sustained the honor of the National Army and the credit of the National Government in a hundred battle-fields.

To the House, the country will look for a temperate and conservative decision of a question so deeply affecting all classes of the community, so that, while provision is made for sustaining the hands of the Government in the unparalleled exigences of the time, it is made with as little excess of arbitrary authority as comports with the public safety. The simplest, and, we believe, the wisest solution of the matter is to leave the commutation clause of the act as it stands, and let the measure, as otherwise amended, become law with the least possible delay, so that our volunteer recruiting boards may be stirred up in right earnest to their duty, and the wants of the army be amply and speedily supplied.

Injustice to Our Troops.—We have read with great satisfaction the accounts of the excellent behavior of the colored troops in our armies during the recent battles. They come from perfectly reliable and disinterested sources, and leave no doubt that in all the essential qualities of good soldiers they are fully up to the requirements of the service. But we submit to some of our cotemporaries that it is not necessary to disparage the character of our white soldiers, in order to give the colored troops their just praise. We notice in one or two City journals special mention made of the fact that in some instances not a colored soldier flinched, while the whites "skulked." It is quite possible that in individual cases this may have been true; but it is absurd to cite them as evidences of the superiority of negroes over our own soldiers. Nothing is to be gained in any quarter by such misrepresentations, while gross and unpardonable injustice is done to as brave troops as ever fought for a just cause anywhere on the face of the earth. We rejoice to know that full justice will be done by both the Government and people to the colored soldiers who have been brought into the service; but it certainly is not necessary or proper that others should be disparaged.

A Small Lie Nailed.—The following paragraph has been floating through the press for two or three weeks:

"The Rochester Union states that Howard of the Times, and Henry J. Raymond spent the evening before the appearance of the bogus proclamation together, and it is currently reported that among those who operated under the influence of the forgery was one of the editors of the Times, (not Mr. Raymond,) who cleared $40,000."

This is false from beginning to end. The person named had not even seen Howard for months before the appearance of the bogus proclamation, nor did anybody connected with the Times in any capacity, as editor, reporter, correspondent, printer's devil or anything else, make a dollar out of the forgery or in consequence of it, in any way, shape or manner.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

Washington, Monday, June 20.

A DISPATCH FROM HAVANA RELATIVE TO DON ARGUELLES.

The President to-day communicated to the Senate a dispatch dated June 10, from Thomas Savage, Acting Consul-General at Havana, relative to the case of Don Jose Augustin Arguelles, and the statement that his arrest was sought because of his opposition to the slave trade. It appears that Arguelles captured slaves in the expedition, as was his official duty; but instead of surrendering them to the Governor-General, he sold a portion of them and accounted for them by reporting that they died of the small-pox and had been buried; and he bribed a curate to attest it. The testimony shows that thirty-eight were sold to one man, twelve to another, and the rest were distributed in a similar way. Capt.-Gen. Dulce, who has been so much abused by Arguelles, has been very efficient in capturing slave expeditions, claiming that but five have escaped him during his administration, while four and a half of another have been captured.

Consul-General Savage further avers that the story of Arguelles' wife's presence in New-York is not true. He represents that these captured slaves surrendered to the Governor-General are termed "Emancipados," and contracts with planters at a nominal sum are made for their temporary service; but that great frauds are perpetrated upon them, a common one being to report a portion of them dead, or when other slaves die to testify to the deaths of emancipados instead, by which they are retained in Slavery.

APPROVED BY THE PRESIDENT.

The President has approved and signed the bill regulating the coasting trade, by which it is provided that any boat, sloop, or other vessel of the United States navigating the waters on our Northern, Northwestern and Northeastern frontiers, otherwise than by sea, shall be enrolled and licensed in such form as other vessels, which enrollment and license shall authorize them to be employrd either in the coasting or foreign trade on those frontiers. They are in every other respect liable to the rules, regulations and penalties now in force relating to registered and licensed vessels.

The President has also approved and signed the act to prohibit certain sales of gold and foreign exchange, commonly called the "Gold Bill," and also the bill providing that all goods, wares and merchandise in the public stores and warehouses, on which the duties are unpaid, and which shall have been in bond for more than one year and less than three years, may be entered for consumption, and the bonds cancelled at any time before the first day of September next, on payment of the duties and charges, according to the laws in force at the time the goods shall be withdrawn.

THE SENATE REFUSE TO STRIKE OUT THE THREE HUNDRED DOLLAR CLAUSE.

The result of the Senate's action to-night on the bill amendatory of the Enrollment Act was a refusal by three majority to strike out the $300 commutation clause. The motion to make the draft for one year was rejected. The bill was recommitted to the Military Committee, who will have a meeting on the subject to-morrow.

Mr. Doolittle, of Wisconsin, (Union) offered the following amendment:

That the rate of charges for public or private messages, shall not exceed on said line the average usual rates in Europe and America, for the same service, or such rates as shall be ascertained and fixed by a convention between Russia and Great Britain.

The further consideration of the bill was postponed till to-morrow.

THE EXEMPTION CLAUSE.

The bill to prohibit the discharge of persons from liability to military duty by reason of the payment of money, was called up by Mr. Wilson, the question being on his amendment, that every person who shall be drafted, and serve honorably for the period of one year, shall receive a bounty of $100 and an honorable discharge, and a similar bounty proportionate to his term of service for a less period.

The amendment was rejected.

Mr. Brown, of Missouri, (Union,) offered the following as an additional section:

And be it further enacted, That in any draft which may hereafter take place, all Indian tribes with whom treaties have been made by the United States, and who are receiving annuities from the Government, shall be required to furnish their quota of men, and that the duties of enrolment and ascertaining the approximate number of said tribes, shall, whenever the same is necessary, be performed by the Indian agents as part of their appropriate duty, without further compensation under instructions from the Provost-Marshal-General; and in the event that any tribe receiving annuities, as aforesaid, shall refuse or fail to furnish its required quota, then and in that event the whole or such part of said annuities as the Secretary of the Interior shall deem adequate to procure substitutes, shall be withheld from the annual payment and shall be placed in the Treasury along with the commutation fund heretofore paid for a like purpose, and provided further that the force thus raised may be employed by the Government for the purpose of maintaining peace, and protecting from hostile incursion of Indians in the territories, and of relieving such troops as are now engaged in that duty.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. Saulsbery said if we would put men into the field who were wearing our uniform in the loyal States, and battling against the rights of loyal citizens, we would be doing the country more service than in employing the wild Indians. Men had been used to infringe the right of citizens of Delaware and Maryland, who could have been employed to great advantage in the field against the common enemy. Instead of these soldiers being thus used, they had been sent into our army election districts to influence and control our elections. He called upon the Administration, before it placed any of these savages in the field, to call upon these white soldiers to take up arms against the enemy in the front, as there was no sane man who believed there was any necessity for an armed force among the peaceful and quiet citizens of the loyal States. Two million and five thousand troops, or one in ten of our entire population have gone into this war, and we were not only calling for more men of a kindred race, but appealing to have the savage tribes called out. Mr. Saulsbery then went on to prove that the amount of men he had heretofore named had been in service, by enumerating the different calls. He said if we passed this amendment, we must forget the indignity with which it would be looked upon by our fathers.

Mr. Brown said his amendment might be justified by the course of the enemy against us, and his amendment only provided that the frontier Indians and settlers might be protected; besides he believed that these Indians in that section would be the most valuable arm of the service.

Mr. Doolittle said the purpose was simply that these Indians should be employed to keep the peace in these Indian Territories against hostile tribes. He offered a substitute, as follows:

"That the Secretary of War is authorized to receive into the military service of the United States Indians of tribes in treaty with the United States to be employed as a part of the military force of the United States, for the purpose of maintaining peace and protection from hostile incursion into the Indian Territory, and other Territories where the hostile or wandering force is in whole or in part composed of hostile Indians. Rejected by a vote of 24 against 12.

Mr. Brown's amendment was rejected by 29 Nays against 10 Yeas.

Mr. Wilson's amendment, that every person who shall be drafted, and who shall serve honorably for the period of one year, shall receive a bounty of $100, to be paid upon his discharge from the service, and every person so drafted, who shall be honorably discharged after a term of service less than one year, shall receive a bounty proportioned to his term of service, to be estimated at the rate herein prescribed for one year's service, was debated at some length.

Mr. Wilson said when the war commenced, the people of the country, with a great deal of patriotism, rushed into and filled up the ranks of the army. At the same time the war brought all kinds of business to a standstill, and wages to a low rate. At such a time it was not found necessary to draft men. We had raised about 1,700,000 or 1,800,000 men for three years' service, and we had to-day an immense force in the field, which occupied to-day a position more favorable than they had ever occupied before. He had never felt such confidence as he felt now in the success of the two great armies East and West in the very heart of the rebellion. He opposed the repeal of the commutation clause, saying that no more odious act could be passed by the present Congress. With his amendment he believed we could speedily fill our ranks.

Mr. McDougall approved the bill, arguing that the Government had a right to demand the service of all her sons; and while the merchant could easily raise the price required at a commutation for his personal service, the hardy son of toil would be obliged to bear the military burden after Mr. Wilson's amendment was rejected.

Mr. Ten Eyck offered an amendment providing that where a non-commissioned officer or private shall be discharged by reason of injuries received in the line of their duty, he shall receive the same bounty and pay as a soldier wounded on the battle-field.

Mr. Hendricks moved further to amend by inserting soldiers disabled by disease or other causes.

The amendment to the amendment was adopted, and the amendment prevailed.

Mr. Grimes then moved that the bill be recommitted to the Military Committee, which was carried.

On motion of Mr. Lane, of Kansas, the Senate, at 8½ o'clock, went into Executive Session.

Adjourned.

Mr. Price, of Iowa, (Union,) offered a preamble setting forth, as follows:

That it is, and ever has been, admitted, since the formation of the Government, that the prosperity of this nation depends on a recognition and observance of the laws of God, and that the compelling of street railroad cars to run on the Sabbath, as provided by the recent act of Congress, is in contravention of the Divine law, and inconsistent with our professions as a Christian nation; therefore,

Resolved, That the Committee on the Judiciary be instructed to report a bill repealing the law compelling street cars to run on Sunday.

The Speaker said the Senate had not acted on the bill yet.

Mr. Price said it was passed so far as the House was concerned.

The House seconded the previous question on its passage—55 against 40.

The vote by which the previous question was seconded was reconsidered by 10 majority.

Mr. Fenton, of New-York, (Union,) moved to refer the resolution to the select committee to investigate the affairs of the Treasury Department, pending which the morning hour expired, when the House went into the Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union on the bill making appropriations for certain civil expenses of the Government.

The bill also makes appropriations for a survey of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, and for the lighthouse establishment for the Atlantic, Gulf, and Lake coasts, including $100,000 to enable the Lighthouse Board to reëstablish lights and other aids to navigation which have been injured or destroyed on the southern coasts.

The bill also appropriates for public buildings and grounds, the Smithsonian Institute, Government Hospital for the Insane, for the survey of the public lands, and includes $300,000 for the continuance of the work on the Capitol extension; $500,000 for the continuation of the north wing of the Treasury extension, $40,000 for the annual subsidy for facilitating communication between the Atlantic and Pacific States by electrical telegraph, and $75,000 for finishing the Patent Office building.

The committee rose without disposing of the bill, and the House took recess till 7½ o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

MISCELLANEOUS APPROPRIATIONS.

Mr. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported a bill making appropriations for certain miscellaneous expenses, the consideration of which was postponed until Thursday.

RATE OF PAY OF NAVAL WORKMEN.

Mr. Charles O'Neill, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) offered the following, which was agreed to:

Resolved, That the Committee on Naval Affairs be requested to examine into the expediency of repealing all laws or parts of laws which require at certain stated periods the regulation and fixing of the rate of pay of the mechanics and workmen and other employes in the different navy-yards, according to the rates paid in private ship-yards, workshops or establishments in the neighborhood of the respective navy-yards where mechanics or other labor is employed, and to report at an early day by bill or otherwise.

Mr. Brooks, of New-York, (Dem.,) offered a resolution that the two Houses being unable to agree with respect to the time of adjournment, that the President be requested to adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper, that time not extending beyond the first Monday of November next.

Objection was made to the introduction of the resolution.

DR. YOKUM'S CASE.

Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, (Union,) made a report from the Judiciary Committee on the case of Wm. Yokum, concluding as follows: "It appears from the facts reported that the proceedings in the case of said Yokum were regular; that his imprisonment was the result of the sentence of the court which tried him; that no pardon was ever issued to him; that the order for his pardon was suspended by the President, and that his continued confinement is in conformity with the sentence pronounced against him by the court. The committee ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject."

Accident on the New-Haven Railroad—Thirty-five Persons Injured.

NEW-HAVEN, Monday, June 20.

The New-York Express train for Boston, via Springfield, this noon, when about one mile north of Berlin Station, met with an accident caused by the expansion of the track rails. The two rear cars of the train were thrown from the track down an embankment and badly broken up. Some thirty-five persons are reported to be injured, mostly by bruises. Among those hurt were E. A. ENSON and wife, of Hartford; Mr. FENN, of the firm of COLLINS & Co., of Hartford, and GEORGE PARKER, a brakeman on the train. The latter was brought to this City; he is not expected to live.

The express train from New-York, due here at noon, met with a severe accident about a mile this side of Berlin Station. From some cause unknown the two rear cars were thrown from the track, turned completely over, and were badly smashed.

None of the passengers were killed, but twenty-seven persons were injured more or less. A. D. ENSON and his wife, of this city, were the most severely injured. Mrs. ENSON is not expected to live.

Reception of the Eleventh Massachusetts Regiment in Boston.

BOSTON, Monday, June 20.

The reception of the Eleventh Massachusetts regiment on their return this morning from the battle-field, their three years' in the service having expired, equaled any demonstration of the same character, yet made. They were escorted by a military and civic procession, including the Scotch Club, through the principal streets to Faneuil Hall, where a collation and addresses of welcome were given. Their march through the city was an ovation of cheers and bouquets.

Opening of a Street Railroad.

PATERSON, Monday, June 20.

The first street railroad was opened this morning, when two locomotives for the United States Government—one from the works of D. B. GRANT, Esq., the other from ROGERS & Co.—passed over it, accompanied by large crowds of people.

The Reported Rebel Raid in the Cumberland Valley.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, June 20.

The military authorities here know nothing of the one hundred day men being ordered to Harrisburgh, and believe it a canard. The Cumberland Valley was never more quiet than it is to-day.

Destruction of a Portion of Warren's Distillery by Fire.

CHICAGO, Monday, June 20.

A portion of WARREN'S Distillery, Rock Island Illinois, was destroyed by fire on Saturday night, 18th inst. A large quantity of grain was destroyed. The loss is estimated at $60,000.

The Eighth Avenue Railroad Extension.

It is gratifying to state that the controversy existing between this company and the property owners of the Twelfth Ward will be satisfactorily arranged, and that the extension of the line to Harlem River will be proceeded with immediately, according to the terms of the charter and the ordinance which passed through both boards of the late Common Council.

The delay in the extension is not attributed, it is said, to GEORGE LAW and the other members of the company. At the time Mr. LAW had the rails ready, the contractors, Messrs. WETHERELL and SMITH, had not completed their contracts for the grading, and the Government requiring a large supply of rails, Mr. LAW passed what he had on hand over to it. Since then Mr. WETHERELL'S contract has been finished up to One Hundred and Second-street, and Mr. SMITH is progressing well with his. The threatened legal proceedings against the company to compel a completion of the road will not now be taken. Mr. LAW expresses his determination to hasten the work, and acknowledges that the public justly demand the completion. From indications it would seem that there would be no more delay. Aside of affording a great public convenience, the prompt finishing up of the work would do away with a deal of ill feeling, which the procrastination has caused.

ON BOARD U. S. TRANSPORT THOMAS SCOTT,
AT SEA, Sunday, June 19, 1864.

CAPTAIN: We, the undersigned, passengers on board your ship, on her present trip, cannot take our leave of her and yourself without an expression, however feeble and inadequate, of the obligations we are under to you for your great kindness, unremitting attention and watchful care. Not only have we felt during this voyage the security which is only possible through able seamanship of the commander, but have almost forgotten that tedium is usually the lot of travelers on the sea, so constant and studious have been your efforts to cause the time to pass pleasantly.

We wish also to testify our appreciation of the extraordinary cleanliness of your ship, and the gentlemanly conduct and good discipline of your officers and crew, which are worthy of the highest commendation. Gratitude and inclination, therefore, constrain us to express to you the satisfaction which our voyage has given us, and to think you, its principal cause.

We beg also to thank heartily the courteous officers who assist you and, who so ably and willingly second you in your endeavors for the comfort of your passengers.

Wishing you every success in the future, and many prosperous voyages to the good ship under your command, we remain, Very truly your friends.

ANOTHER AFFRAY BETWEEN POLICEMEN AND ROWDIES—ONE OF THE LATTER FATALLY INJURED.—PATRICK KENNEDY died yesterday at Bellevue Hospital from the effects of injuries received on Sunday last. The facts of the case, so far as they can be ascertained previous to the inquest, are as follows: An officer of the Twelfth Precinct was called upon Sunday morning to arrest a disorderly character on the corner of Third-avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-fourth-street. The latter was taken into custody, and the policeman started to the Station-house with him. He had proceeded but a short distance, when a gang of roughs, numbering about thirty, attacked the officer, and made a determined effort to rescue the prisoner. An alarm was given, and a roundsman and two other officers immediately made their appearance. A severe struggle then ensued, during which KENNEDY, the deceased, seized a stone of four or five pounds weight, and threw it at the head of the officer who made the arrest. The missile missed its aim, and struck the prisoner, knocking him down. The roundsman, who saw the murderous assault by KENNEDY, instantly struck the latter a blow with his club, from the effects of which he died at the hospital as above stated. A partial examination made after death, showed that the skull was fractured. Deceased was 22 years of age, and had been in this country fifteen months. Coroner RANNEY will hold an inquest on the body to-day.

Dr. J. H. Schenck has a Large Suite of rooms at No. 32 Bond st., New-York, where he can be found every TUESDAY, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

He keeps a large supply of medicine at his rooms, which can be had at all times. Those wishing advice or an examination of the lungs will do well to call on him as above. He makes no charge for advice, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer, his price is $3.

Many persons are afraid to have their lungs examined by Dr. SCHENCK, for fear they will be found incurable, and by that means it is put off until it is too late. How much better it would be to know their condition at once, as by abundance of evidence Dr. S. has shown sufficient certificates in this City that he has cured advanced stages of consumption.

Dr. SCHENCK'S Principal Office is No. 39 North 6th-st., Philadelphia, Penn., where letters for advice should always be directed.

A neglected cold may cause months of suffering, and often ends at last in consumption, bronchitis or other pulmonary affection. Where neglect is attended by results so dangerous, what can justify the careless indifference "of waiting for a cold to get well itself?" If those who are now troubled with Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, &c., would surely avoid the dreadful sufferings of the consumptive, let them take at once Dr. D. JAYNE'S Expectorant, a remedy whose efficacy has been established thirty years. All of Dr. D. JAYNE & SON'S Family Medicines are sold by HARRAL, RISLEY & TOMPKINS, No. 141 Chambers, and No. 1 Hudson-st., and by Druggists generally.

PROPOSALS FOR $250,000 OF "RIOT Damages Indemnity Bonds, No. 2," of the County of New-York.

Sealed proposals will be received at the Comptroller's Office until Monday, the 27th of June, 1864, at 2 o'clock P. M., when the same will be publicly opened, for the purchase of the whole or any part of the sum of Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars ($250,000) of "Riot Damages Indemnity Bonds, No. 2," of the County of New-York, authorized by Chapter 7, and as amended by Chapter 396 of the Laws of 1864, and by an ordinance of the Board of Supervisors, approved by the Mayor June 15, 1864.

The said bonds will bear interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly, on the first day of May and November in each year, and the principal will be redeemable on the first day of November, 1882.

The proposals will state the amount of bonds desired, and the price per one hundred dollars thereof, and the persons whose proposals are accepted will thereupon be required to deposit with the County Treasurer (at the Broadway Bank) the sums awarded to them respectively.

On presenting to the Comptroller the receipts of the County Treasurer for such deposits, the parties will be entitled to receive bonds for equal amounts of the par value of the sums awarded to them bearing interest from the dates of payments.

Each proposition should be sealed and indorsed "Proposals for Riot Damages Indemnity Bonds, No. 2," and the same inclosed in a second envelope, addressed to the Comptroller.

The right is reserved to reject any or all of the bids if considered necessary to protect or promote the interests of the County.

CATARRH CURED.

THE CASE OF HUTCHINGS, THE "LIGHTNING CALCULATOR."

There was published in these columns a few days since the remarkable cure of Hutchings, the "Lightning Calculator," so well known to the public during the many years he exhibited his wonderful arithmetical powers at Barnum's Museum, by the celebrated Oculist and Aurist, Dr. Von Eisenberg, of this City. Hutchings is represented to have been at the point of death, and but for the timely interference of the Doctor, would now be resting in his grave. This is a remarkable case, and worthy of the attention of persons similarly afflicted.

We think it is but just to Doctor Von Eisenberg to call public attention to this case. There are hundreds in the community suffering from catarrh, who, like the "Lightning Calculator," if not actually praying for death, are ready to accept of anything that promises to relieve them from their distresses. To such we would say, trifle not with inexperienced men, but consult, without unnecessary delay, Dr. Von Eisenberg, who, at least, has the honesty to assure his patients whether it is within his power to make them whole or not.

DEAFNESS CURED.
From the Tribune.
EARS TO THE DEAF.

Every man, and especially every woman, believes in his or her physician. There are philosophical minds which hold to an abstract faith in Allopathy, or Homœpathy, or Hydropathy, or some other form of scientific cure; but with the world at large the belief is not in the system, but in the doctor. Especially is this true as regards aurists and oculists. The patient who has recovered his sight or his hearing is sure that the blessing could have been restored to him by no other practitioner than that particular one by whom his eyes or ears were opened. Dr. Von Eisenberg is among our best-known aurists. He has not lent us ears as a brother practitioner has eyes, and in whose skill, therefore, we believe above all others. But we hear of him from those who esteem him not merely as a surgeon, but as a benefactor. A recent case has been related to us, for the truthfulness of which we can vouch, though we can name no names. The patient was a lady who had been deaf from infancy, as a consequence of some of the ailments to which children are liable. Latterly the disease had taken an acute form, and the patient was subject to intense suffering. The deafness was rapidly becoming complete, and the general health breaking down under the physical exhaustion attendant upon constant pain. Ordinary remedies and ordinary advice were useless, and Dr. Von Eisenberg was called in. We need not repeat his diagnosis, for that would be only a list of hard names to the general reader. But he detected at sight the seat of disease, first in one portion of the organism, then in another, and with manipulation as skillful as his insight was accurate, he removed the causes, and she who, from infancy, had heard with difficulty, and latterly hardly at all, was restored first to perfect hearing and then to perfect health. Dr. Von Eisenberg's advertisement reminds us of this case, which we thus briefly relate, though not at his solicitation. Let him that hath not ears, hear.

From the Christian Times.
SIGHT RESTORED.
CONCERNING EYES AND OCULISTS.

Of the five senses, that which we call seeing is the most important and most valued. In proportion as this sense fails us, we are reduced to helplessness. If entirely destitute of sight, how slow would be our progress in knowledge, and how limited our sphere of action and usefulness. Endowed with it, the universe becomes a new creation, clothed with beauty and diversified by that infinite variety which never fails to attract the mind and heart.

For several months past this has been a practical subject to us. An inflamed condition of the eyelids communicating itself to the pupil, rendered the discharge of daily duties not only painful, but dangerous. Attributing it to the effect of a cold, we endured it through the Spring, with the hope that with the return of warm weather it would entirely disappear. But in this we were doomed to disappointment. Summer returned, but not our wonted sight. What might have been the result, either of further neglect or of incompetent treatment, we cannot say.

Stating our case to a friend, he assured us that a similar one in his own family had recently been treated with entire success by Dr. Von Eisenberg, of this City. Satisfying ourselves by more particular inquiries that the doctor is no empiric, but a scientific oculist and aurist, we concluded to seek the benefits of his treatment, which we have now reason to acknowledge is very great. Though but a few weeks under his care, the appearance of our eyes has totally changed. The pupil is now full and clear, and the lids are entirely free from inflammation. The doctor says that the optic nerve has been weakened and the retina assumed a chronic inflammatory state, affecting more or less all the other tissues, and threatening, if neglected, to end in Amaurosis. Opthalmitis, is the term we believe, which oculists apply to eyes affected as were ours. Having obtained the much desired relief, we take great pleasure in acknowledging our indebtedness to the talent of Dr. Von Eisenberg, and of calling to it the attention of others who may be suffering from a similar or even worse condition of their eyes. It is said that Providence provides an antidote for every bane. It is certain that the eye is, in these times, subject to severer trials than formerly. Let us be thankful, then, that as we increase the tendencies which destroy the organ of vision, the progress of science keeps pace with these tendencies, if not in advance of them.

MEDICAL.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by DR. WARD & CO., No. 58 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhoea or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 61 Franklin-st. Call, send, or write.

$1,000 FORFEITED AND NO CHARGE UNLESS CURED.—Dr. Hunter's Red Drop cures venereal diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury; but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless this remedy is used. This is what he claims for it; and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known that scientific men, in every department of medical knowledge, begin to appreciate it; for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division st., New-York City, since 1834. Eight separate rooms and a private entrance. A ten cent bill will secure the Monitor of Health by return mail.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR GOUT AND RHEUMATISM.

All sufferers from the above complaints, either of recent or long standing, are advised to use Blair's Gout and Rheumatic Pills. They can be relied upon as the most safe and effectual remedy ever offered to the public, and have been universally used in Europe for many years with the greatest success.

Prepared by PROUT & HARSANT, No. 229 Strand, London, England, and sold by their agents, F. C. WELLS & CO., 115 Franklin-st., and by most druggists.

Her Majesty's Commissioners have authorized the name and address of "Thomas Prout, No. 229 Strand, London," to be impressed upon the Government stamp affixed to each box of the genuine medicine.

EVERARDUS WARNER,
No. 2 Vesey-st., Astor House.

From the New-York Journal of Medicine and Collateral Sciences.

"It is written in a clear, nervous style, and is calculated, as we think, to do much good. The descriptions are accurately drawn, and the remedial measures judicious. The practitioner will find it abounding in valuable hints, and the general reader will come across many useful cautions and premonitory warnings."

From the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

Dr. Dixon has written much and well on various branches of surgery; his book shows a thorough acquaintance with modern practice; stricture, varicocele, hydrocele and fistula are particularly well treated of. Indeed, he has managed to secure attention to every page in this volume, an art that few medical writers possess.

"The author's acknowledged originality and thorough devotion to the rational principles of medicine, and his ingenuity under trying surgical circumstances, stamp it with more than ordinary interest."—London Lancet.

MUSICAL.

CHICKERING & SONS

Manufacturers of Grand, Square, and Upright Piano-Fortes, No. 652 Broadway.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.

Mr. Gottschalk's constant use of the New Scale Chickering Grand Piano-Fortes has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

STEINWAY & SONS'

GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.

The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others, is, that the firm is composed of five practical pianoforte makers, (father and four sons,) who invent all their own improvements, and under whose personal supervision every part of the instrument is manufactured. Warerooms, Nos. 71 and 73 East 14th-st., between Union-square and Irving-place, New-York.

CHARLES E. BACON.

MASON & HAMLIN'S CABINET ORGANS FOR FAMILIES, CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS—Recognized by the musical profession as greatly superior to Harmoniums, Melodeons and all other small organs. [See our illustrated catalogue for explicit testimony to their superiority, from a majority of the most eminent organists in America.] Prices, $85 to $500 each.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.—The great reputation which our Cabinet Organs have obtained, and the extensive demand for them, have induced dealers to advertise, in some cases, quite different instruments as Cabinet Organs, and in others to represent to purchasers that Harmoniums and other reed organs are the same thing. This is not true. The excellence of our Cabinet Organs, which have given them their high reputation, are the result not merely of the superiority of their workmanship, but also, in large measure, of essential differences in construction, which, being patented, cannot be imitated by other makers. From these arise their better quality and volume of tone and unrivaled capacity for expression. Warerooms in New-York, No. 7 Mercer-st.
MASON BROTHERS.

THE WEBER PIANO FORTE—IS ADmitted the best piano forte made, because the maker, beside being a practical mechanic of long experience, is also a thorough musician, thus combining advantages possessed by no other manufacturer in the United States. Such is the testimony of T. B. Mills, Robert Heller, Geo. T. Bristow, Wm. Mason, C. Jerome Hopkins, Chas. Fradel, Max Maretzek, Carl Anschutz, John Zundle, Maurice Strakosch, Giovani Sconcia, and every good musician in the United States. All musical ears at once admit their great superiority. Warerooms No. 155 West Broadway, near Canal-st.

Turf Record.

THE GREAT TROT AT THE FASHION COURSE TO-MORROW.

The three great trotting horses of the present epoch—Gen. Butler and Robert Fillingham—meet once more in the second of their great trotting contests, at the Fashion Course to-morrow, to fight their last Wednesday's battle for supremacy on the trotting turf, over again. The immense excitement that ensued last week bids fair to be eclipsed on the forthcoming occasion. The trot is much talked about not only in sporting circles, but among the general public, who have no financial interest in the result, but who delight to witness such gallant struggles between such noble animals as the above three. Few among the teeming thousands who were on the course last week will be absent, and their places will be more than filled by those who were absent then, but would not be on any account to-morrow. The last race was in harness—the coming one is to wagons, and which will prove the better in the change of vehicle remains to be proved. The idle rumor that Fillingham would not start, we can contradict on the authority of his owner, who asserts that he is well and fit—and the supporters of the horse aver that he will beat Butler this time. The latter is a notoriously good waggon horse, and his party say he is sure to repeat his triumph—whilst the Morgan party declare he will make the race far too warm to be agreeable to either of the other two. At any event, the trot will be the most exciting one of the season. The most ample arrangements have been made for the comfort and protection of the visitors and the preservation of order on the course.

NEW FERRY BUILDINGS.—The new iron ferry buildings at the foot of Whitehall-street, erected by the Hamilton-avenue and South Ferry Companies, are completed. They are the finest specimens of architecture of the kind in the City.

THE WORD "SOZODONT,"

which is fast becoming a household word, is derived from the Greek, and composed of two words, Sozo and Odontes. "Sozo," translated, means to preserve, and "Odontes," the teeth. "Sozodont," a preserver of the teeth. And it is true to its name. For beautifying and preserving the teeth, hardening and invigorating the gums, and correcting all impurities of the breath, it is without a peer in the world.
